Car Ban Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver has been urged to reduce traffic speed limits, restrict parking and block off some streets in order to save lives, especially those of children.

The proposals are made in a report of a UBC research team after a year-long study of child-pedestrian accidents in the city.

Main proposals are to reduce speed limits to 20 from 30 miles an hour in residential areas, to ban traffic from these areas between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., to restrict parking to one side of residential streets and to repeal the by-law which gives pedestrians the right of way at all intersections.

The city bylaw giving pedestrians the right-of-way at intersections, the report says, gives children a false sense of security.

Red China Next Then Pakistan Indian Pledge

PATNA, India (UPI)— The president of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's Congress party pledged yesterday to drive the Chinese Communists from Indian soil and "liberate" all of Kashmir from Pakistan.

The threat of military action against China and Pakistan was made by Sanjiva Reddy shortly before an unruly crowd of thousands of Nehru's admirer's broke through barriers and lines of police armed with bamboo poles for a closer look at their idol.

FLAG RAISING

Reddy spoke at the traditional flag raising ceremony before formal opening of the party's conference. He delivered the major political address although Nehru spoke in support of the party's election manifesto calling for national integration.

'PATIENCE TRIED'

Reddy said Communist China's new penetrations in the Ladakh area north of Kashmir has tried India's patience. The Chinese are mistaken if they believe India will allow this indefinitely, he said.

CAN'T ACCEPT IT

Referring to Pakistan, Reddy said India cannot accept the present ceasefire line in Kashmir as a permanent solution to the dispute with Pakistan which also claims Kashmir. He said the entire country supports the government action to "liberate" parts of Kashmir now under Pakistani control.

POLICY HARDENS

Speeches by the Congress president usually reflect official Indian government policy. Reddy's rejection of the ceasefire line indicated a hardening of government policy in the long smoldering dispute.

LIBERATION HOPE

"We hope that within a short time the government will take steps to liberate that part of Kashmir (occupied by Pakistan)," Reddy said. "It is, however, to be left to the government to choose the proper time for this purpose."

Death Claims Fourth Refugee From Tristan

REDHILL, England (Reuters)—Alfred Green, 73, the oldest male among the 275 refugees from volcano-ravaged Tristan da Cunha Island, died Thursday of pneumonia. The group has been hard hit by chest infections of various kinds since its arrival in England in November and Green was the fourth to die.

Twelve Charged in Scandal

Meat 'Unfit for Humans' Eaten by Ontario Families

TORONTO (CP) — An estimated 375 to 500 tons of meat unfit for human consumption has been served in homes in southern Ontario since last August, RCMP said Thursday.

The estimate came as police arrested 12 persons in the climax to investigations which began in August. All were charged with offences under the Food and Drug Act.

STAMP OF APPROVAL

Police described the operation as that of a ring which sold meat from fallen or dead animals to packers and duped them into believing it was of good quality by marking the containers with the stamp of approval of the Brant County health department.

VETERINARIAN HELD

One of the 12 men arrested was Ormond C. Raymond, a veterinarian with the Brant County health department and a director of food control and sanitation with the county health unit.

Insp. Kenneth Fraser, head of the RCMP Criminal Investigation Branch here, said the meat was sold in good faith by the retail outlets because they had no way of knowing it was not of good quality.

THROUGH CHAIN STORES

He said much of the tainted meat found its way to the public tables through "some of the larger supermarkets and groceteria chain stores."

RCMP Supt. F. B. Woods-Johnson said Thursday night investigations indicate the large stores, which handle federally-inspected meat, did not receive any of the unfit supplies.

STATEMENT ISSUED

In Toronto, spokesmen for the larger supermarkets and groceteria chains issued immediate statements saying they bought all their meat from packing-houses under federal government supervision.

BEGAN IN AUGUST

Investigations began in August when firms specializing in the byproducts of dead cattle told police they had difficulty buying carcasses.

Police said profits on the operation could run to about $60,000 a month. The most ever paid for a dead animal was $5, and in some cases, police said, farmers were glad to give the animal away to save disposal costs or trouble.

Some of the animals had been dead for days, lying bloated where they fell in the fields.

Jet Crashes In Okanagan

VANCOUVER (CP)—An F-89 Scorpion jet fighter with two men aboard crashed Thursday night in a remote and mountainous area in southeastern British Columbia.

The crash was confirmed by officials of the Air National Guard at Geiger Field in Spokane, Wash., where the aircraft was based.

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre here said the 25th Air Defence Command reported two F-89 aircraft were carrying out practice missions in the area when one of them reported seeing a mid-air explosion.

The aircraft crew said radio and radar contact with the other F-89 was lost after the explosion.

The RCAF said a Trans-Canada Airlines Vanguard jet passenger aircraft reported sighting a fire 60 miles east of Penticton.

The air-sea rescue officials said the Vanguard circled the fire for several minutes before leaving the area.

The RCAF sent a CF 100 jet to the crash area from Comox.

Thief Robs Art Dealer

BERGAMO, Italy (AP)— Four paintings valued at 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 Lire ($80,000 to $160,000) have been stolen from an art dealer's villa, police said yesterday.

The U.S. defence department has just released this picture of a new armored vest developed for the army at its research centre at Natick, Mass. The vest is made up of overlapping flexible titanium plates to protect against high velocity fragments. —(AP Photofax.)

Patch Or Scrap?

Salvaged Ship's Fate Still in the Balance

By IAN STREET

All the efforts of two Victoria tugs, which pulled the Sa. Glafkos off the rocks at Ucluelet and safely delivered to Esquimalt, may not be enough to save the Greek freighter.

A jagged tear 84 feet long in the portside bottom plates of the vessel, disclosed in a preliminary damage survey, will be surveyed fully in drydock today.

The findings will decide whether the 7,000-ton ship, built in Canada in 1943 and originally named Algonquin Park, is to be repaired or patched up and sold for scrap.

PLATES PUNCTURED

Jack Daley, chief diver for Island Tug and Barge Ltd., made the first underwater survey shortly after the ITB tow arrived yesterday reported the main gash in plates was 17 feet long and wide enough to take his head and shoulders.

Punctured and buckled plates covered an area amidships 84 feet long and 20 feet wide, Mr. Daley reported.

TUGS PRAISED

Meanwhile, ITB officials here said the salvage operation carried out by the tugs Island Challenger and Sudbury rated highest on the long list of successful company operations.

Big Rip Revealed

Thousands of gallons of water gushed out of sieve-like bottom plates of crippled Greek freighter Sa. Glafkos last night as she lay on blocks in Esquimalt drydock after harrowing rescue bid which saw her plucked from the jaws of death on a reef 100 miles northwest of Victoria. Still in the balance this morning was the vessel's ultimate fate . . . cost of repairing jagged 84-foot tear in ship's crumpled hull may send her to the breakers for scrap. — (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Terror in City

Oran Battle Joined By Tribesmen

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—French Zouave troops fought a battle in the heart of Oran yesterday with an Algerian Moslem rebel commando troop which penetrated the centre of the city and sprayed a cafe with machine-gun fire.

Last night the death toll for the first four days of the new year had climbed to at least 72 with 150 persons wounded. Five persons were reported killed in the Oran fighting yesterday and four others elsewhere in Algeria.

French authorities had imposed a strict curfew in Oran, but when it was lifted yesterday morning Europeans opposed to independence for Algeria poured out of their houses and resumed their kill-and-run tactics against Algerian Moslems.

REBELS RETALIATE

In the afternoon the rebels retaliated by sending commandos into the Place Marshal Foch in the centre of Oran where they sprayed a cafe with machine-gun fire as hundreds of European youths demonstrated in the square. A soldier and a policeman fell dead.

FIRE RETURNED

The Zouaves, fierce tribesmen from the Djurdjura Mountains of Algeria, returned the fire with sub-machine guns.

The Zouaves, who have been fighting for France in Algeria since 1831, were joined by police as the rebels raced into nearby buildings in the confusion that filled the square. They shot it out with the rebels for an hour.

Crew in Grave Danger On Drifting B.C. Tug

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A 200-ton tugboat with 12 men aboard was drifting out of control late Thursday night in a roaring gale near the rocky west shore of Dundas Island, 30 miles northwest of here.

Towing company officials here said the men were in "extreme danger."

The tug, the Commodore, of Straits Towing Ltd., lost her 2,000-ton log barge tow in 100-mile-an-hour winds Thursday afternoon and then lost her steering as she searched for the tow.

The department of transport lighthouse tender Alexander MacKenzie was standing by but was unable to get a line on the stricken tug.

A sister tug, the Comet, was hauling a barge on the opposite side of Dundas Island and a tug from Prince Rupert was speeding to relieve the Comet of her tow so that the Comet could help the Commodore.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Balsam, from Ketchikan, Alaska, and the tug N. R. Land from Kitimat, 75 miles southwest of here, also were steaming to the aid of the rudderless tug.

UBC 'Angel' Gives Home To President

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Norman MacKenzie and all the retiring presidents of the University of British Columbia who come after him will have a $30,000 home for their own use.

It was learned Thursday that millionaire philanthropist Dr. Leon Koerner will foot the bill for the new home whose first resident will be Dr. MacKenzie who is retiring next summer.

Swiss to Buy U.K. Missiles

LONDON (CP) — Switzerland has agreed to buy $56,000,000-worth of anti-aircraft missiles from the British Aircraft Corporation, the corporation announced Thursday.

Cheque Bounced

Bank Sued For Libel

LONDON (AP) — Liquor dealer James Black is suing his bank for libel because he claims it bounced a cheque of his when he had money in his account to meet it.

The Winnipeg-born liquor dealer came to London 25 years ago and now is in his 60s. He claims a cheque he wrote for £93 ($260) was wrongly dishonored by the Westminster Bank and that this action libelled him.

He is also suing the bank for breach of contract by the alleged refusal of the cheque.

The case, believed to be unique in British legal history, will be heard by a judge and jury in London after Easter.

Police Trap Bank Robbers

MONTREAL (CP) — Police cornered a gang of armed robbers Thursday shortly after a bank holdup in the north-eastern part of Montreal, killing one and capturing four others.

The robbers were surrounded by 6 policemen in a partly - occupied apartment building about a mile from a Royal Bank of Canada branch where $20,000 was taken in a noon-hour holdup.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE Order of The Skunk Cabbage, that mythical award for bad manners and ignorance, must go this week to some students at a high school near Victoria.

An Indian lad, attending a provincial school for the first time, arrived in a white shirt and black tie. He used to go to a residential school, where they had taught him to be neat.

But his clothes didn't conform to high school fashions. Fellow-students hooted and jeered him down the corridors. He looked stunned, puzzled.

Many of his tormentors were clad in skin-tight jeans and open-necked sports shirts, and the boys had long, long hair.

He won't be wearing that white shirt and tie today, unless he is a very stubborn boy. And he will be feeling hurt.

Young people are intolerant. They want everyone to dress, look and behave alike. Extreme conformity is a foible of youth.

But I wonder if there is a way to diffuse some propaganda for kindness and tolerance, and respect for the other person's ways and viewpoint.

Couldn't we sneak this idea into schools and homes when children are six or seven years old, and give it a chance to grow?

Another lad, who had lived abroad for some years, came to school with a neat haircut and a white shirt and tie.

They soon jeered the tie off him. Now he wears turtle-neck sweater, tight jeans and long hair.

But the odd thing is this: When the youngsters have their photographs taken, they turn up wearing a white shirt and tie. That is the way they want to be remembered by posterity. I don't know the answer to it. Is there a psychologist in the house?

Yes, an oil delivery man could give you short measure if he happened to be dishonest.

That's what a reader tells me.

"I checked my tank with a dip stick before and after the delivery man came, and found that he had given me exactly the correct amount," he says.

"That was on the first delivery. On the second delivery I found the tank 15 gallons short."

The oil company made it up to him, after he complained. This was a while ago. I doubt if it happens now.

Expectant fathers are an absent-minded lot. They don't notice what they are reading, or eating. So we are told—and maybe it is true.

A scout says he has made three visits to the maternity waiting-room of Royal Jubilee Hospital in the last week.

The only reading matter consists of two copies of Electrical Engineering magazine. One deals with microwave systems, the other with molecular electronics. And that is all.

For Far East

Sailors Leave Today

A lot of hearts will be saddened this morning as relatives stand on shore and watch their loved ones sail away on three warships bound for the Far East.

Hundreds of relatives and sweethearts are expected to be on hand at HMC Dockyard for the 9 a.m. sailing of the destroyer-escorts Assiniboine, Ottawa and Margaree.

TO MARK START

The haunting, high-pitched shrill of bos'ns' pipes and loud blasts from the ships' sirens as the vessels ease astern from their moorings and swing towards the harbor mouth will mark the start of a 3½-month separation of 750 officers and men from their families.

To some of the men it will be the beginning of an adventurous trip to such places as the Hawaiian Islands, Ceylon, Malaya and Thailand.

CHANCE FOR BEARD

To others it will mean a chance to grow whopping great beards and to a few it will probably mean they will be fathers before they see home port again.

The 15,000-mile journey will be the longest peacetime naval training cruise from this coast since the Second World War.

JOINT EXERCISES

Battle readiness of the Canadian crews will be sharpened in a series of joint exercises at sea with units of the American, British and other Commonwealth nations' navies.

Although there will be many drills and exercises there will be plenty of things to keep the men occupied in their off-duty hours aboard ship.

FILMS SHOWN

Mail will be forwarded to ports of call, news briefs will be read to the crews through public address systems, motion picture films will be shown, and sailors can lounge in recreation rooms supplied with games, books and television.

Pensioners Waited On By City Businessmen

Old-age pensioners at a Salvation Army supper Wednesday night were served by city businessmen in aprons.

Serving the 165 pensioners were Kenneth Leeming, George Clinton, Torry McCall, Edward Brooks, Richard Pollard, William Clarke, Douglas Nelson, Warren McWilliams, W. R. McIntyre and Cmdr. Ivan S. Day.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (breath). Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere. Advt.

Ship's Fate

Near Thing Admits Skipper

president said this rated higher than the epic 39-day ocean rescue of the Makedonia in 1955 because the Ucluelet operation was conducted in "confined waters."

STERN DRIFTED

Capt. Stephen Fairhurst, skipper of the Sudbury, said that on Tuesday when the Glafkos was pulled off the rock pinnacle the stern of the ship drifted within 50 feet of a nearby reef before the towrope and anchor chains held.

DRAGGED ANCHOR

The whole operation again hung in the balance shortly after noon Wednesday when the freighter dragged her one remaining anchor toward the reefs and the Sudbury strained to hold the tow in a 55-mile-an-hour gale.

"After two hours we began to inch the old girl out and we were on our way to open water," said Capt. Fairhurst.

BEGAN PITCHING

Capt. Roy Blake, ITB port captain who took over-all charge of the operation, said the tow could still have been lost running from the mouth of Barkley Sound.

'IT WAS CLOSE'

The skipper of Island Challenger, Capt. Andrew MacPherson, when asked if the salvors thought at any time they would lose the ship, replied: "Let's say it was close."

Aboard the Glafkos when it docked here yesterday were two Ucluelet machinists who volunteered to be put aboard the ship by helicopter with cutting torches.

Your Good Health

Try Pillow Switch In Spinal Complaint

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

What causes a tingling sensation in arms and hands when I take a deep breath, or sneeze, or sigh? I am 47. — Mrs. M. G. G.

I realize diagnosis isn't simple, but what could cause numbness in my face every morning? It disappears after I become active. — M. A. M.

Bone changes in the spine can cause such symptoms. There may be some other source but spinal changes in or near the neck are by far the most frequent.

A thickening of the edges of the bones in the spine, some abnormal alignment of them or thinning of discs between the bones—all can put some slight pressure on nerves which pass between the spinal bones.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

The likelihood of a thinned disc is suggested by the description of the discomfort coming on when a person sneezes. Pressure from the scalenus muscle in the neck or soft tissue may also create trouble.

The trouble in the morning shows the position of the head while asleep may be the important factor, with the numbness disappearing after activity.

In all cases, X-ray of the neck and perhaps the upper spine gives considerable information.

Treatment could be as simple as switching to a thicker or thinner pillow, or perhaps using no pillow to change the alignment of the neck during sleep.

Changes of posture, braces, certain simple exercises, traction in severe cases, are a few of the methods which may be most effective.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My hands are constantly perspiring and clammy. I am 29 and in good health and not outwardly nervous. A doctor suggested using witch hazel but it doesn't help much. — R. A. M.

Clammy hands usually are seen in nervous, tense individuals, but they may not be "outwardly nervous at all." There are drugs which tend to suppress the problem, but they should be prescribed by a physician since incorrect dosage may have unpleasant side effects.

Sometimes moderate use of simple sedatives or tranquilizers helps. And a drying solution such as 25 per cent aluminum chloride, applied to the hands, also may lessen the moisture and clamminess.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Please comment on a condition called globus hystericus and what is its cure? — Mrs. L. F.

This is a sensation of a lump or ball in the gullet, usually found in nervous individuals. Sedatives and reassurance that no disease exists often proves to be the cure.

Memorial Services Planned

Memorial services for Rev. Campbell B. Smith, former pastor of Glad Tidings Tabernacle here who was killed Saturday in a car accident near Napanee, Ont., will be held in the church here at 11 a.m. Jan. 28.

The 61-year-old president of the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College in Peterborough was killed in a three-car highway accident while he was on his way to Dorval, Que., to preach from his son's pulpit the following day.

He was president of the Victoria Ministerial Association during his five-year pastorate here from 1953. Rev. E. A. Hornby is pastor of the church now.

Before coming to Victoria, Mr. Smith spent eight years as general superintendent of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada in Toronto.

He was also a former pastor of the Ottawa Pentecostal Tabernacle and a number of churches in eastern and western Canada.

Women's Stilettos Symbol Of 'Stab' at Man's World

LONDON—The Daily Mirror took headmaster Kenneth Barnes to task after he had accused women of wearing stiletto heels to "stab" back symbolically at a male-dominated world.

"Have a lesson on us," the Mirror said. "Women wear stilettos to show off trim ankles and shapely legs.

Barnes had said that because women feel insecure "they go stabbing their way through houses, halls and theatres, knowing quite well that they are collectively doing millions of pounds worth of damage."

Tshombe Says:

Must Unite But Be Free To Hit Reds

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe said yesterday the province must be reunited with the rest of The Congo but still remain free enough to fight the threat of communism and rule by leftist Antoine Gizenga.

Tshombe was addressing his provincial assembly called into session to consider ratification of an agreement ending mineral-rich Katanga's 18-month secession from the rest of this former Belgian colony.

TSHOMBE INSISTS

Tshombe has insisted the assembly must approve his month-old pact with central government Premier Cyrille Adoula before it can become effective.

Tshombe said only two of the agreement's eight points present any difficulty—the one calling on Katanga to accept the Congo's "bad" fundamental law and another requiring acceptance of United Nations control in the province.

TONE TOUGHENING

Tshombe's tone toughened as he mentioned Gizenga, now vice-premier in the central government.

"Katanga must be unified with its brothers in the Congo," Tshombe said.

But he added the province "must remain sufficiently free so that its fate would not be finally sealed on the day the shadow of communism spread over this country and that Gizenga took power, thanks to be ready again, united behind its leaders to fight the good fight for freedom and democracy."

Compliment Earns Lashes

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—A Johannesburg magistrate yesterday sentenced a 20-year-old Negro to be caned because he told a white woman, "My, lady, but you've got nice legs."

"I felt very embarrassed," the woman, Faith Jennifer Seaton, told the court. "It's bad enough when my own people say it."

Miss Seaton said Alfred Majola made the remark while she was waiting for a train at the Johannesburg station.

"I think the punishment is well suited to the crime," the judge told Majola after ordering eight cuts with the rod.

'West New Guinea Ours This Year'—Sukarno

MAKASSAR, Celebes (AP) —"West New Guinea will be included in Indonesian territory this year and no fleet, no army, no force will stop us," Indonesian President Sukarno declared yesterday.

Speaking to a huge throng on this Indonesian island, he firmly rejected Dutch proposals for settlement of the New Guinea dispute.

Dutch Army Confident

THE HAGUE (UPI)—Dutch military commanders in The Hague and New Guinea are confident their forces can repulse any Indonesian invasion of the territory, defence ministry sources said yesterday.

No reply has been received from Indonesia on the Netherlands' offer to negotiate on West New Guinea, the government said.

Whale of Idea To Plumb Sea

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists today were planning to invade the ocean depths with the help of a whale to obtain valuable information in anti-submarine warfare research.

W. V. Kielhorn, manager of Lockheed-California anti-submarine and ocean systems technology division, revealed that researchers hoped to tag a small sonar transmitter to a surfaced whale's back. The giant mammal would then be tracked with a floating marine laboratory.

The electronic feedback would enable scientists to follow the whale and "learn a lot from its underwater habits and diving tracks," he said.

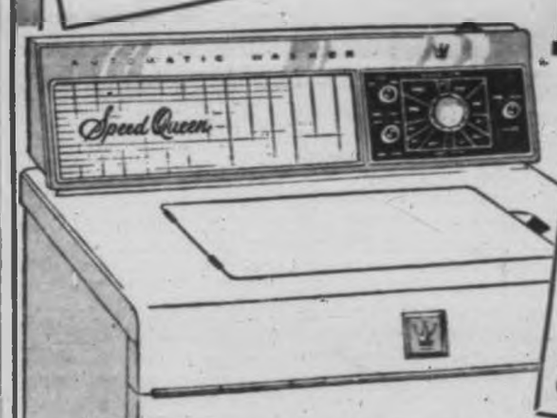

Kielhorn pointed out that whales can dive deeper than most submarines. Sperm whales reach depths of more than 1,000 feet. Their skeletons, entangled in ocean cable, have been brought up from such depths.

A Strange Message

PRIME MINISTER MACMILLAN'S public pronouncement that Britain was no longer a great power was a strange New Year message for his countrymen. It is not the custom of vigorous statesmen to sound a defeatist note.

One could never imagine a Churchill telling Britons that they must depend on others for survival; his would be a clarion call to stern endeavor and a reminder of their proud heritage.

The world knows that the physical resources of Britain are no longer what they were in its supreme heyday; the world should know also it sacrificed its material strength in two global wars in order to preserve the freedoms and dignity of mankind. No English-speaking country did more or impoverished itself in such degree by its herculean efforts in both struggles. Alone of these it suffered the truncation of its wealth and economic power.

But Britain is far from being an also ran, and its prime minister should be the first to realize this. Only the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. outstrip it in material might and physical assets, and the influence that stem from these elements. Neither matches it in character or sagacity, in stability or experience, or in the intangibles that reflect enduring quality.

Britain is still the fount of maturity, the nation to which many look for calm appraisal of the international scene. It remains a nerve centre of the financial realm. The probity of its public institutions and political life is unrivalled. Its flag is still a guarantee of freedom and protection. It is a nation that commands universal respect.

Above all it is peopled by the same race of men and women who for many years girdled the globe and promoted the welfare of other nations now reaching their own heyday. That race retains its skills and imagination, its courage and ingenuity, its capacity for coping with new things and a new age. It is not to be written off.

Only the sheer growth of population and attendant wealth has given some others a superior position and made Britain seem by comparison to be of lesser status. But in the human qualities of its people and the resources they may bring to bear in the universal interest Britain is still Great Britain.

It is surprising that Mr. Macmillan should not be emphasizing these enduring virtues instead of beginning a new year with apology and implied belittlement. It suggests that he should step aside and let a more virile successor lead the nation to which the world owes much and which has yet a great and valuable role to play in human affairs.

None Worthy?

WHATEVER happened to the Canada Medal? Established nearly 20 years ago by order-in-council to recognize outstanding achievements by Canadians, this distinctively Canadian decoration still lies smoldering in the Ottawa archives.

Though the medal was created under the Mackenzie King Liberal government of 1943 and was announced with great enthusiasm by the late prime minister, he made no move to bestow it upon anyone before his retirement five years later.

According to his biographer and former Liberal cabinet minister, J. W. Pickersgill, Mackenzie King became "exasperated at the whole business" of deciding who should or should not receive the award.

His successor, former Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, apparently ran into the same problem and attempted to ignore the whole thing. In this he was more than successful, only being prodded once about the matter, when the opposition leader of the day, Mr. John Diefenbaker, asked the Liberal government in 1956 what it intended doing about the medal.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that the Canada Medal was an award in keeping with the democratic tradition of the country and yet honoring "people who make a great abiding and significant contribution to Canada." But, he added, the Liberal government apparently had a "revulsion" against using it to recognize Canadian achievements.

Since then, of course, the government has changed hands. But the policy regarding the Canada Medal seems to remain unchanged, leading the few Canadians who actually know of the medal's existence, to assume it is the official view of succeeding federal governments over nearly two decades that not one Canadian citizen has achieved anything sufficiently worthy of such national recognition and honor.

Few Canadians will agree with this view. One has only to check the United Kingdom New Year's honors list to see that Britain, at least, has no qualms in giving public laurels to her own people. This year's list ranges from scientists to athletes, from civil servants to businessmen, from the clergy to musicians, from ballet directors to union leaders.

Surely it is now time that Canada could honor her own in a similar manner. We have the medals and we have the people—what is the government waiting for?

A Source of Pride

THE BRAVE MEN who succeeded in saving the Greek freighter Glafkos from being torn to pieces by the heaving, churning seas and the rocks that had impaled her at the entrance to Barkley Sound on the west coast of Vancouver Island have well earned the highest of commendation for their courage and skill.

They have taken the dangers and the tests of endurance, these men of the sea and the air who saved the ship and its crew, as part of the job, in the best tradition of such daring operations. But all who have followed the gripping story of the rescue will feel pride that in a society often regarded as having gone soft, such men continue to show themselves equal to the harshest challenges of nature."

For Victoria in particular the rescue is a source of pride, for although credit goes in no less measure to crewmen of the RCAF air-sea rescue helicopter that took part, the Banfield lifeboat that stood by the stricken freighter in hazardous circumstances and the residents of Uchuelet who helped, the salvage operation was chiefly the work of two tugs of this city's Island Tug and Barge Ltd., a company that has become known throughout the maritime world for its oceanic conquests and now has this further feather in its cap.

By all who took part, the greatest of skill has been matched with outstanding courage. Theirs is truly a job well done.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax. . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

IN the travel section of last Sunday's "Observer," the London weekly describes how one can get from Britain to Montreal, go westwards to Winnipeg and on to Banff and the Rockies ("some of the finest scenery in the world"), and either turn back then or go over the peaks to Vancouver and, perhaps, take a boat trip to Alaska.

No mention of Victoria, which may be unknown to the geographers of the London travel bureaus. Obviously they have not read Kipling and the Bennett ferries have not come to their ears; else how could any self respecting travel adviser fail to speak of Treasure Island.

These bureaus, of course, may still be searching for the pedigree of Captain Discovery and finding it difficult to unearth.

* * *

NEARLY 50 more hours of sunshine than average beat down upon Victorians in 1961, according to the meticulous data kept by the local weather office. Often one's memory conflicts with the official record, but the recollection of last summer's endless days of dry delight doesn't fade easily. At the risk of sounding greedy one would like to see this halcyon period repeated in 1962.

There was more rain last year, they say, in spite of the sunny summer, but a mere 1⅞ inches and the grand total of 29 inches was a bagatelle. Think of Assam, where I believe around 500 inches of rain may be expected in any one year, and you can appreciate the heaven-sent bliss of Victoria and its environs.

Captain Discovery should send a clipping of last year's data to the aforesaid London travel editors.

* * *

PRESIDENT Sukarno has proclaimed the Dutch-held half of New Guinea to be part of Indonesia. Portugal some time ago made Goa part of that country, but as you know with little avail. It all depends on the color of the colonial power.

It has become a crime only when the possessors of native lands are white. In the New Guinea instance the Dutch were willing to let the Papuans have self-determination, previously the warcry of all the Afro-Asiatic nations. This does not suit the Indonesian book, however, which apparently couldn't care less about what the Papuans might want.

If the UN was worth its salt it would head off any trouble by warning Indonesia to stay clear, but it's doubtful this will happen.

* * *

The color line has been drawn now at the UN—at the expense of the white nations, who seem paralyzed from sticking together.

A double standard of ethics has been created, which implies that aggression is only aggression when it is committed by nations having pale skins. If the latter are colored it becomes a matter of "liberation"; Indonesia, for example, seeks to "liberate" the Papuans who never were Indonesians.

This is colonialism in reverse, but by the alchemy of semantics it is camouflaged to look like something different.

* * *

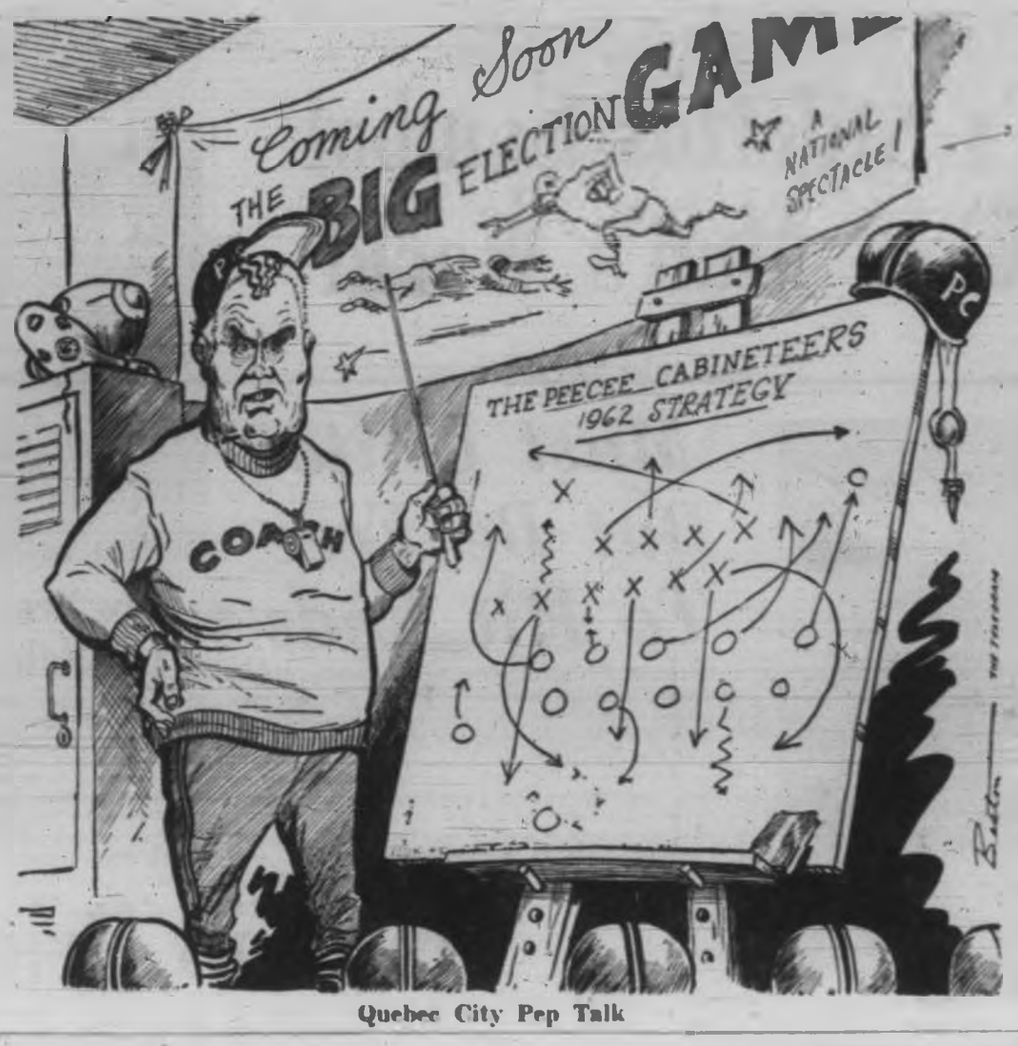

And the white members of the UN seem afraid to speak up in defence of their brothers, lest they be thought to be against the self-determination being granted in many places patently too soon in some. Their own example in gradually liquidating their colonial systems is proof of their modern enlightenment and offsets all criticisms of the past.

They will rue the day however if they bow slavishly to the build up of other colonial empires, this time forged by non-white nations in the sacred name of "liberation" and emancipation from the white "yoke."

It should be remembered that many of the great conquerors of ancient history were not white, and that it was the white races which evolved the idea of freedom and brought law, order and dignity to the human family.

"I'd say we're already pretty harsh with Castro. We're not giving him aid, are we?"

Quebec City Pep Talk

Washington Calling

A Small But Growing Light

By MARQUIS CHILDS

AS in the year just ended, 1962 promises another heat in the race between political insanity and the kind of economic reason that can establish the base for a new and stronger world.

The conviction is growing that through the instrumentality of the European Common Market and its expanding relationship to all non-Communist areas there is a vastly important potential. It lies in the hope that economic ties will provide the cement for a union that political ties seem unlikely to achieve.

* * *

The coming year will provide some sharp and even decisive tests for this belief. America's trade policy must be reshaped so that this country can take part in the expanding market created by the new Europe. President Kennedy's primary challenge is to persuade Congress, against the pressures of those industries bent on keeping tariffs up, that the future lies with the new economic order.

With failure there would almost certainly be an eventual trade war between the new Europe and the United States. American firms now dependent on exports for their profit margin would sooner or later be shut out of major markets. This would be a sure way to divide the West and, in effect, play the Communist game.

Whether Britain, now knocking on the door and asking for membership, will be admitted to the European community on reasonable terms is still another test.

One of the things Prime Minister Macmillan wanted to tell President Kennedy in Bermuda was that this is by no means a foregone conclusion. Old resentments and suspicions — the fact that Britain for so long opposed the Common Market concept in the ancient tradition of divide and rule—can make it impossible.

* * *

But formidable as are these challenges they seem simple alongside what must be done if not in 1962 then in the years just ahead. Within the framework of an economic union evolving toward a political union forces of fearful destructiveness must be confined or they will undo all that has been achieved thus far.

First in this category comes nuclear power for peace and war.

France, following a goit alone policy bent on a national nuclear deterrent, is deeply resentful of what the French consider American favoritism in helping Britain and denying nuclear help and know-how to France. This is part of the deepseated political neurosis menacing the growing structure of European unity.

Ambitious West Germans, such as Defence Minister Franz Joseph Strauss, feeling the upsurge of Germany's new power, are demanding a leverage on the use of nuclear weapons either through NATO or directly in a national arsenal. This is one of the deeply troubling uncertainties that must somehow be resolved in the coming months.

* * *

If within a European framework the British could contribute their considerable nuclear development and this could be added to what the French have done and what the Germans clearly can do in the near future, then a third nuclear force will have been created. It would be collectively controlled and its evolution for peaceful purposes could thereby be more nearly assured. This is part of the vision of the makers of the new Europe.

In another and not so frightening but nonetheless formidable category is the problem of agriculture. The European Common Market in its present stage of development has not even faced up to the question of agricultural surpluses and the subsidies with which most European countries endow their farmers.

By comparison it was easy to knit together the coal and steel producers of the six European countries — France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg — in the first step toward a common market. Creating a common currency reserve and before too long a common currency, which is the big step just ahead, may not be too difficult.

But the farmer, long convinced that he is not getting his fair share of reward out of an industrialized society and demanding more and more from government, is a tough nut to crack.

* * *

Over world markets hang America's huge agricultural surpluses. Whether they are sold at cut rates or given away, these surpluses threaten to undermine prices and force governments to lift subsidies even higher. Without concerted action there is no solution in sight. A world conference on commodities and farm prices, held within the framework of an expanding Common Market, might find the answer. This is another lien on hope that the framers of economic union cherish.

With the political winds blowing at times at hurricane force, this must seem a small and uncertain candle. But it has persisted and the light it sheds has steadily grown in power. If only for this reason its promise for the future cannot be ignored.

International Commentary

A Consoling Thought

By W. N. EWER

TWELVE months ago I wrote in this commentary that internationally 1960 had been a depressing and disappointing year. I am afraid the words are applicable to 1961 as well.

The disappointments have not been so sharp, for the initial expectations in January, 1961, were far less optimistic than those of January, 1960. Then we had been looking forward to the "summit" meeting. There was to be a new disarmament committee. The independence of The Congo had had a universal welcome, with little foreboding of what was in store.

When 1960 faded into 1961 the picture was far more sombre. The "summit" had been a catastrophe. The Soviet Union had put an end to the disarmament committee. Mr. Khrushchev had made his bitter attacks on Dag Hammarskjold and on the organization of the UN secretariat. The Congo had become a daunting problem.

Yet there was a new surge of hope. It was based on the belief that the change of administration in Washington might bring a change in the Soviet attitude towards the United States. Mr. Khrushchev himself had seemed to hint that this might be so. And everyone felt that an easing of strain between the two "giants" would have far reaching effects.

* * *

These hopes centred, to a considerable extent, on the nuclear tests conference in Geneva. The prospects for an agreement on a system of control which would make possible the permanent banning of the testing of nuclear weapons seemed to have improved. If there could be such the way to a wider agreement on a program for general and complete disarmament.

Yet is was in this field that the first, and the worst setback came. In March the Soviet Union, going back on an agreement already reached, laid down new conditions for the organization of the control system, which were virtually impossible for the Western Powers to accept.

By June the Russians were insistent that "three" years' work should be scrapped, and the whole question of a ban on testing put aside until an agreement on general and complete disarmament could be no only reached but implemented.

And then, the world was shocked by the Russian resumption of atmospheric tests, and by the boasts that these were of bigger and more horrific nuclear weapons than had yet been tested.

* * *

On the other side of this account it has to be noted that there is to be a new disarmament commission, and that the Soviet and American governments have agreed on a list of disarmament principles which they both accept. Nevertheless, past disappointments make it hard to feel optimistic.

Nor has the position with regard to Berlin notably improved. True, the worst apprehensions of a year ago have not been fulfilled.

But the Ulbricht Wall has been built, brutally dividing the two halves of the city. And the Khrushchev threat is still there. The soundings which the American and British governments are to make to discover whether or not a basis can be found for negotiations will be the first move of the New Year. Very much may hang upon their outcome.

Another anxiety in the closing weeks of 1961 has been over the future of the United Nations. Its value, its authority, and its efficiency have already been damaged by the fact that it has become a theatre of conflict in the "cold war." The 99 Soviet vetoes in the Security Council are the symbol of this.

But now there seems to be a new danger. It is all issues that come before the UN—either Security Council or Assembly — may become confused and clouded by feelings about "colonialism." This is not the place for discussion of recent events. But the danger is only too obvious. And one of the great needs of the whole world is that the authority of the United Nations shall be strengthened, not weakened.

So one enters 1962 without the high hopes one had for 1960, or even the more modest hopes one had for 1961. The dominant mood is, I think, not one of pessimism but certainly one of anxiety.

However, there is this consoling thought. The optimisms of early 1960 and of early 1961 brought disappointment. They were followed by unpleasant surprises. If 1962 brings — as it surely must — surprises, they may well be pleasant ones.

The Packsack

The Gropers

By GREGORY CLARK

THERE is little hope of us solving many of the major problems confronting mankind until we have dealt with innumerable curiosities of human nature. For example, why do the women who insist on getting first aboard a bus or streetcar never open their purses to grope for their fare until they have blocked the entrance?

Can anybody tell me why they don't do their groping out in the street as they stand in line and see the bus or streetcar approaching?

You think there are not many of them? There are thousands of them. Any streetcar or bus driver can tell you that he hardly ever makes a run that some woman, with eyes like marbles and an expression about as lively as a plaster statue, does not eagerly push first aboard, ahead of half a dozen fellow citizens and once face to face with the fare box, laboriously twiddle open her handbag and start groping, while the lineup clings behind her.

I am not referring to the people who hasten first aboard and then proffer a $10 bill to the driver. No. It is the ladies with their cavernous handbags groping for the ticket or nickel they are sure they saw there not half an hour ago.

Solve them before you attempt to solve the mystery of nationalism.

Hong Kong

Boom Town

By CASSANDRA, from Hong Kong

THIS column is being punched out in a hotel bedroom to the goopy accompaniment of Mr. Bing Crosby on the radio singing "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas."

As the temperature in these parts lurches round the eighties I am dreaming of a white-hot Christmas.

This is a slightly crazy place to English eyes in which to spend Christmas. This is boom and bust town. Hong Kong is bursting at the seams with prosperity and exuding misery, poverty and squalor on a scale that rivals the worst refugee spots. For sheer concentration of humanity this is the most densely packed place in the world.

Crowded Dot

Nobody really knows how many people live in this little dot of land but nine months ago the census chaps worked out that the population was well over three millions and increasing fast.

The Chinese are still coming in from the mainland and are sending back home a million food parcels a month to their hungry relatives in the Communist paradise of Mao Tse-tung.

The Hong Kong government struggles bravely with the problem of unlimited men, women and kids but they can barely cope. There are more fantastically rich people here and more desperately poor people than any other rich-and-rags city that I know of.

* * *

The shops are crammed with every kind of luxury from pearls to cameras, from jade to silk, from transistors to cosmetics. Yet, with all this commercial abundance, there are beggars and pleading kids everywhere.

Building on a scale that reminds me of New York is going on. Vast modern steel and glass buildings are under construction with much of the work being done by old-fashioned sweat and toil rather than by modern methods. The grotesque paradox is that labor is so cheap here that it is more convenient and economic to employ about forty men to do by hand a task that we in the West would tackle with one concrete mixer.

Immense and most creditable housing projects are under way and rarely have I seen so many roads being torn up and relaid by cohorts of men shifting the stuff with baskets.

Teutonic Touch

Trade figures are still rising and comparatively new industries like plastics are flourishing. The harbor is crammed with ships and the place glistens with glossy cars.

The Germans, who know something about booming prosperity, are here in force and on the radio and in the night clubs nostalgic Teuton songs are played and sung.

In the nearby little Portuguese island of Macao a roaring trade in gold is being done to the accompaniment of gambling, prostitution, bullfights and motor racing.

Yet, with all this violent contrast between preening wealth and profound squalor, Hong Kong is a law-abiding place. The Chinese obey the rules. The crime figure is relatively slight and the drug business is under control.

There is some bribery and corruption but in the Orient this is usually regarded as a compulsory courtesy.

Loss of Face

I heard of one government official who quite within the rules had given some routine commercial advice to a rich Chinese importer who promptly showered his counsellor with costly gifts.

They were returned. The Chinese businessman was deeply wounded. He had suffered irreparable loss of face — especially in the eyes of his friends to whom he had confided the story of his generosity.

I cannot see that there is any solid future for this extraordinary island. At the moment it apparently suits people in Peking to have this outlet. But the lease of the New Territories will not go on for ever and Hong Kong as a British possession has not in my view a great expectation of life. The temptation for Red China to do a Goa may prove too strong.

From the Scriptures

For God sent not His son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through Him might be saved.—St. John, 3:17.

Letters to the Editor

Hard Up

That political pundit Pickersgill, writing to your paper, asks people to produce evidence that the prime minister has failed in his promises, so putting Diefenbaker in a poor light for the next election. (Politics with a capital "P.") Pickersgill says he has put aside his self-appointed task in writing a biography of Mackenzie King to take on this work of gathering spies for this new Gestapo gutter job.

He infers that his party keeps its election promises when, in fact, all thinking people know that election promises by any party are governed by subsequent events. What John D. said in the election of 1957 cannot be judged, for example, in the light of the latest Russian bomb tests. Pickersgill is obviously hard up for election material in stooping to this hogwash of combing Canada for help in compiling a compendium of lost causes; a sort of encyclopedia for nincompoops; pinning it all on the present prime minister.

Power Case

B.C. Acts to Block Suit

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia government started action Thursday to block the B.C. Power Corporation's bid to have the Supreme Court of B.C. review the expropriation last August of the B.C. Electric Co.

The government applied in Supreme Court chambers for a ruling on legality of the Expropriation Act before the corporation's case against the government comes to trial in March.

Possibility of following this procedure which could have the effect of avoiding lengthy litigation—was suggested in court recently by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

The corporation has already asked the Supreme Court to rule that the expropriation legislation is illegal, or to establish a price higher than the $111,000,000 which the government paid for B.C. Electric, giant utility which was B.C. Power's primary dollar earning asset.

The corporation also asked the court to decide whether the $40,000,000 in B.C. Electric debentures are still convertible into 1,080,000 shares of B.C. Power common stock, as they were previously to the expropriation Aug. 2, 1961.

Plans Abandoned For Ferry Shift

Provincial highways department has dropped plans for the relocation of the terminal for the Mill Bay ferry on Saanich Peninsula, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said yesterday.

The change had been under study to give residents of the Duncan area easier access to the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen government ferry terminals.

"There's no need to change the Mill Bay route now," said Mr. Gaglardi yesterday. "Now that we have the Nanaimo ferries running, all the people on the Island are conveniently served."

Mounties Seize Fake $1,000,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roy Frank Carline, a 31-year-old Vancouver printer, was remanded until next Friday when he appeared in police court Thursday on charges in connection with counterfeiting.

Carline, president of a Vancouver printing firm, was charged with being in possession of $1,000,000 in unfinished counterfeit $20 bills and in custody of a machine for making counterfeit money.

He was arrested late Wednesday when RCMP and city police swooped down on an east-end Vancouver house and seized the money, a printing press and plates.

Officers said the counterfeit $20 bills were in uncut sheets, but were of good quality and would have been put in circulation shortly.

Bail for Carline was set at $15,800.

Gaglardi Wants Licence

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi wants his suspended driver's licence returned pending the outcome of his appeal against a conviction for careless driving.

"I think it should be returned," he said yesterday. "I just want to be treated the same as everyone else."

But motor vehicle branch officials said that is the way Mr. Gaglardi is being treated.

"If he wants the same treatment as everyone else, he will get it," said an official. "It is not our custom to give licences back."

Mr. Gaglardi said that until he had his licence returned he would be driven around the province by departmental employees.

He surrendered his licence to the motor vehicles branch yesterday on the orders of the court.

He said an appeal against his conviction — the sixth in five years — had already been launched.

Moderation Ahead

January outlook of the United States weather bureau as plotted on these two maps shows that British Columbia temperatures should be near-normal during the next 30 days, with precipitation moderate. Eastern provinces will enjoy above-normal temperatures and precipitation will be moderate to heavy. Normal precipitation is given in inches of rain. One inch of rain equals 10 inches of snow.

Rash of Break-Ins

Cooked Goose Stolen From Langford Home

Three business premises and one house have been broken into in a series of burglaries in Langford this week, with loot ranging from a cooked goose to cigarets and cash.

A bakery and a fish-and-chip shop in the 700 block Goldstream were entered overnight New Year's Eve, one by breaking a window, the other by smashing the glass in a door.

12 CARTONS

From the bakery the thieves stole 12 cartons of cigarets valued at about $31. From the other shop nothing was taken.

Overnight Jan. 1, the home of Albert Algie, 2633 Wentwich, was entered by forcing a bedroom window. The cooked goose, a box of Japanese oranges, half a bottle of rum and another of Scotch, were stolen but a number of valuable items were ignored.

Heaviest loss was sustained by Price's Store, 714 Goldstream, entered overnight Wednesday by forcing a back door. Here the thieves took 60 cartons of cigarets worth about $300, and $40 in cash.

RCMP at Colwood said last night windows have been broken at a number of other premises.

Tax Change Unlikely In Oak Bay

Reeve George Murdoch yesterday forecast no major tax change for Oak Bay householders even though assessments have been increased for many residences.

He felt the general debt rate can be kept down by "judicious planning of municipal expenditures" to offset any increase in education costs, over which the municipality has no control.

Reeve Murdoch will outline his plans for 1962 during Monday's inaugural meeting of Oak Bay council. He said chairmen of key committees such as finance, public works and personnel will probably be unchanged.

Plunging Bus Kills 33 People

ILICINIA, Brazil (UPI)—Thirty-three persons were killed and 40 injured, most of them seriously, when a bus plunged into a ravine outside Ilicinia.

Eyewitnesses said the driver lost control of the vehicle when its brakes failed.

Would You Like a Second Income?

Hundreds of people like you now enjoy a SECOND INCOME. They actually share in the profits of major Canadian industries. By periodic purchases of Trans-Canada shares, they build up an investment in such solid and profitable Canadian corporations as Imperial Oil Limited, International Nickel Company, Ford Motor Company of Canada and many others.

Costs Only Pennies a Day

Although a single share in any one of these companies may sell for from fifty to a hundred dollars or more, you can participate in the plan for just pennies a day. In other words, you don't have to be wealthy to take part in the Trans-Canada Investment Plan, and to share in the dividends paid by leading Canadian Corporations. You can even have life insurance added, at no cost to you, if you choose the Trans-Canada self-insured investment plan.

Established 28 Years

Trans-Canada Investment Corp. Ltd. is one of the oldest organizations in the field. During these twenty-eight years, they have paid out hundreds of thousands of dollars to investors—have never failed to pay a dividend!

Driver Sent To Jail

A lengthy record of convictions for driving offences put a Saanich mechanic behind bars for seven days.

The jail sentence was ordered by Magistrate William Ostler when Don Delaney, 1034 Colville Road, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while disqualified. A further 18 months suspension of Delaney's licence was also ordered by the magistrate.

ON PARKING LOT

Defence counsel Robert Monaghan told the court that Delaney was stopped by police while driving the car of a friend on the Town and Country shopping centre parking lot.

The car had broken down and, as a favor, Delaney got behind the wheel to start it, said the lawyer.

Magistrate Ostler, in passing sentence, said he had taken into consideration the plea by defence counsel, and had imposed a minimum jail term.

Claims 'Hardship'

Car Dealer Fined For Lack of Bond

A city automotive firm was fined $15 for failing to post a $5,000 performance bond with the superintendent of motor vehicles.

The fine was imposed on Midgley Bros. Automotive, 2017 Quadra.

A company representative told the court the new regulation, which went into effect last year, posed a hardship to small dealers and "would only work for big business."

Reginald Midgley said the regulation would possibly force him to abandon his business. His company was the first to be charged under the new section of the Motor Vehicle Act.

"It may be this regulation works a hardship on some companies," said Magistrate William Ostler "but this is a matter for the legislature, not the court.

"My duty is to enforce the regulations."

More Than 260 Sign for Course

More than 260 men have been signed up so far for the second national survival course which starts Monday at Bay Street Armory.

Forty-nine applications received yesterday swelled the volunteer ranks to 260 applications. About one dozen did not pass their medical examinations, but this loss will be offset by 14 members of local militia units who will be taking the course.

Maj. R. H. Jorgensen, officer in charge of training, said, "If we have a rush tomorrow like we had today, the course will be filled to overflowing."

Quota is 300 men, and the recruiting office at the Armory will be open until noon Saturday.

Four of 175 men who recently completed the first survival course have been chosen to join the instructional staff to assist training officers.

Scouts, Cubs To Gather Old Bottles

Scouts and Cubs in the Lake Hill and View Royal districts will be holding bottle drives Saturday.

Boys in View Royal will begin their drive at 9 a.m., collecting all types of bottles, and peanut butter jars with lids.

Drive for bottles by Cubs and Scouts of St. Peters Lake Hill will start Saturday at 10.30 a.m. Anyone not expecting to be home around that time may leave empty bottles on the porch.

Active Scot John Grant Dies at 76

A man active in Scottish affairs of Greater Victoria since his arrival here in 1911, John Grant, 76, of 10 Moss Street, died yesterday.

Mr. Grant was a past president of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society and of the Victoria Highland Games Association. He was one of the founders of the Victoria Boys' Pipe Band in 1924, and was an active member of the Victoria Burns Club.

In his youth he was famed as a Highland dancer, and the tradition has been carried on by his daughter, Mrs. Adeline Duncan, with whom he made his home, and by his granddaughter, Heather.

Another survivor is a second daughter, Mrs. J. B. Davis, also of Victoria. There are five grandchildren.

Mr. Grant was for years on the maintenance staff of Victoria High School. He was also a member of Victoria Quadra Lodge No. 2, AF & AM.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. T. H. McAllister at 1.30 p.m. Saturday at Hayward's funeral home. Burial will be in Royal Oak cemetery.

Toronto Dealer Faces Price-Fixing Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Cooper Campbell, 55, head of a terminal warehouse firm here, went on trial Thursday on six counts of price-fixing under the Combines Investigation Act.

He is charged with aiding and abetting dealers "by inducements or threats" to resell surgical products at not less than minimum prices specified by manufacturers.

Crown Prosecutor Campbell Grant of Walkerton, Ont., said Bard-Parker Co. of Danbury, Conn., made surgical blades, handles and holders and — having no branches in Canada — engaged Campbell to represent them.

Mr. Grant said that in dealing with local dealers in the Bard-Parker goods, Campbell had the dealers make contracts with hospitals to purchase a certain amount of the surgical supplies. If the hospitals defaulted on the contracts, they were billed for the full amount anyway.

31 Rigs in B.C. Drill for Gas, Oil

A record 31 rigs are now drilling for oil and natural gas in B.C.'s northland, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said yesterday.

He said most of the drilling program is taking place in the Peace River country.

Richfield Oil is also drilling on the shores of Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes in an attempt to seek "offshore drilling information." The company is one of several which have provincial government permits to explore for oil off the coast of B.C.

Mr. Kiernan said he had received no further word from Ottawa over the jurisdictional dispute over whether the province or the federal government has control of offshore territory.

Heavy Trade Brings Drop At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Big investors took some long-term profits and the stock market erased an early gain, closing with a sharp loss. Trading was heavy.

The market was higher at the start. Rails followed through in early trading on their vigorous rally of the previous session. Soon they turned irregular and the group was lower on balance by the close. Steels, chemicals, utilities and a wide range of selected issues followed suit.

Steels Rise Fast

MONTREAL (CP) — Steels, oils and papers rose sharply.

Steico rose ¾ to 81¾ and General Dynamics gained 1⅝ to 32⅛. Both issues have made good gains [illegible] this week.

Dominion Foundries added 1¾ to 68¾ in a buoyant steels section. National Steel Car gained ½ to 21 and Algoma was up ¾ at 45¾.

Imperial Oil rose ⅝ to a new high of 52¼ among oils. Canadian Husky added ⅞ to 7¾ and BA Oil rose ½ to 37½.

Western oils were higher. Home A gained ⅝ to 14, Royalite added ¼ to 12¾. Central Del Rio gained 10 cents to $7.45 and Alberta Gas Trunk A advanced ⅝ to 38.

Fraser gained a point to 28½ and Consolidated Paper was up ½ at 44.

Hudson Bay Mining added ⅝ to 55¾ among base metals.

Hudson's Bay Company was unchanged at 12¼ in heavy trading.

Banks were mixed.

Solid Advance

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved ahead in an almost solid line during heavy trading.

Leading the upsurge was the steels group, with oils following. Dominion Foundries and Steel had the best gain in its section, up 1¾. Algoma went up one point and Steel Company of Canada ¾.

In oils, BA advanced ¾, Imperial ⅝ and Texaco Canada ½.

Biggest gain of the day went to TG Bright, the wine company, which jumped 10¼ to 82. Heaviest loss hit Ford of Canada, down 7 at 168.

Ventures and Falconbridge bucked the upward swing in base metals, dropping 1¾ and ⅝ respectively.

In heavy speculative action, Northgate climbed 18 cents to $2.78 and Canadian Dyno added 14 cents at $1.65.

Western oils saw Dome ahead ⅛, Great Plains Development and Home A ⅛, and Pacific Petroleum ⅛.

Pipelines Move Up

VANCOUVER — Westcoast at $21, Trans Canada at $27¼ and Trans Mountain at $14¼ took pipelines higher. Gains also showed in B.C. Sugar, Dominion Tar and Rothmans.

Some coppers showed strength with Bethlehem at 1.45, Craigmont at $18¼ and Cuprilan at .47. Chartier and United were higher among oils.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (AP) — Metals [illegible]

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — Bond prices were slightly lower in quiet trading.

Short-term Canadas were five cents lower but long-term Canadas were unchanged with an easier undertone.

Provincials were generally ⅛ lower and corporate bonds were unchanged.

New Year Sting

Tax Buck Passed

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Most people these days are smarting under the wounds caused by the receipt of increased tax assessment notices . . . a sardonic way for bureaucracy to welcome the New Year.

The fault, we are assured, is not to be laid at the doors of the municipalities. They carefully absolve themselves by attaching to their tax notices the statement that they are not responsible for the upward revision. They blame it on the B.C. government's Assessment Equalization Act which, ordains that the assessed values of both land and improvement shall henceforth be 50 per cent of the actual value.

MORE AID SOUGHT

Meantime Premier Bennett, still in his Christmas spirit, said only this week that he thought Canadians were already taxed high enough, and we must give him credit for [illegible] as his own authority is concerned.

But at the same time, the B.C. government continues to try to get more out of the municipal purse and is consistently seeking more aid from the federal government at Ottawa.

ONLY ONE GROUP

As the Jan. 1 edition of the Letter Review of Fort Erie says, "One of the worst features of taxation as it is managed in Canada is the lack of recognition of the fact that no matter which government levies a tax, there is only one group of taxpayers to pay it. Thus municipalities try to get grants from provincial or federal sources and provincial governments want the dominion government to assume some share of their expenses, just as if there were separate municipal, provincial and dominion taxpayers."

The current increase in land assessments probably means the B.C. government's $50 home grant has finally caught up with itself and is having to be paid for the only way it can be met—out of the taxpayers' pockets.

BANK RATE RISES

The Bank of Canada rediscount rate rose yesterday to 3.33 per cent, up 0.09 per cent from last week, and the highest it has been since June 1, 1960. It was the ninth successive week in which the rate has risen since it was 2.50 per cent on Nov. 9.

* * *

DOLLAR RATE DIPS

The Canadian dollar reached its lowest point in 10 years when it was at a discount of 4 15-32 per cent to the U.S. dollar at the Montreal foreign exchange market yesterday. Last time it was below this level was on Nov. 19, 1951, when it was at a discount of 4½ per cent.

ALL BONDS SOLD

The government's offering of $150,000,000 new 2% per cent bonds maturing April 1, 1963, has been over-subscribed according to the finance department. The bonds were offered at 99.15 to yield 3.47 per cent.

BCE Seeks Oil Bids For Peace River Job

VANCOUVER (CP) — The government-owned B.C. Electric has invited oil companies to submit bids to supply petroleum products needed in the construction of the giant Peace River power development.

Officials said Red Star Petroleum, a BCE subsidiary, is asking for prices on 18,000,000 gallons of diesel fuel, 770,000 gallons of gasoline, 780,000 gallons of lubricating oil and 1,092,000 pounds of grease.

The contracts would cover the estimated petroleum requirements during the initial stage of the project from 1962 to 1966. Peak year for petroleum consumption would be 1966 when needs are estimated at 5,900,000 gallons of diesel fuel, 260,000 gallons of gasoline, 250,000 gallons of oil and lubricants and 354,000 pounds of grease.

The petroleum products will be used mainly by the huge trucks and earth-moving equipment working on the Portage Mountain dam construction near Hudson Hope.

Canadians Face Huge Education Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — A forecast was issued Thursday that Canadians in the next 10 years will double their spending on education with provincial governments, possibly aided by federal grants, picking up an increasing share of the tab.

By 1970, for every dollar of personal income, an estimated 9.6 cents will be spent on education, nearly double the 1960 figure of 5.4 cents, says a new report on financing education.

The cost of education, it adds, is rising at a much faster rate than the growth of the national economy and imposes a mounting financial burden on many municipalities.

"Education officials and the public they serve have, it seems, been so engrossed in more immediate tasks that few have recognized the magnitude of this problem."

The 59-page report was compiled by William J. McCordic, executive secretary, metropolitan Toronto school board.

"Education costs will continue to increase so long as public education is expected to widen its range of services, to raise the quality of its performance, and to serve a growing proportion of population," Mr. McCordic writes.

The largest factor in the increased cost of education was a phenomenal rise in school enrolment, which had jumped by almost 100 per cent since the Second World War to 4,000,000.

Greater Student Aid Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — Financial assistance for university students must be more freely available to prevent mounting fees from becoming a factor in selection for admission says a new educational report.

The report, prepared by William J. McCordic, executive secretary, Metropolitan Toronto school board, for the Canadian Conference on Education March 4-8, says the question of student aid "is still far from satisfactory."

"Less than one-third of the full-time students at Canadian universities received financial assistance, and the average scholarship or bursary was equal to about one-half of the cost of tuition.

"Unless student aid is more freely available, rising tuition charges will become a factor in selection for admission and the nation will be the worse for it."

Nude Liz Scenes Cut from Movie

ROME (Reuters) — Shots of Elizabeth Taylor nude in a bath have been cut from the movie "Cleopatra" because of objections by Eddie Fisher, the actress' husband, it was reported here yesterday.

Fisher's objections to the shots were disclosed by studio sources here although the producers of the movie, 20th Century Fox, tried to play down the reports.

The studio sources said everyone was cleared from the set for the shots and the film was not processed by the normal developing laboratory.

But when Fisher saw the finished film, he objected, the sources said, and the shots were handed over to him.

Four New Index Cards Help Police in Traffic

City traffic department is busy preparing four index cards for each of 1,500 traffic control devices used in Victoria.

The cards will catalogue all stop signs, no-parking areas, traffic lights and other devices for use in conjunction with the new streets traffic and regulation bylaw which will go into force Jan. 21.

CARDS DISTRIBUTED

One set of cards will go to city police, another will go to city clerk Frank Hunter, the third to the city's sign department and the fourth will remain in the traffic department.

Work of checking all existing traffic controls against the bylaws which authorized them has already been done.

The card index system will assist police where laws are broken, and city hall catalogues will give a continuous record of the life of traffic controls.

New Denver School Bombed

NELSON (CP) — A bomb exploded yesterday at the rear of the main dormitory building of a New Denver school once used for the enforced education of Sons of Freedom sect Doukhobor children and RCMP reported damage was fairly extensive.

The bombing device went off during the early morning hours.

At the same time a power pole had been blasted in the area of Grand Forks, police said. This explosion also occurred during the early morning hours.

The New Denver school had been set up by the provincial government for Doukhobor children whose parents would not send them to school. Up to 100 Freedomite children were in attendance at the school at one time. It was closed in 1960.

Police Chase Taunts Over Air

OTTAWA (UPI) — A 23-year old Ottawa man was arrested yesterday in a stolen police cruiser after a 70-mile electronic game of hide-and-seek.

Gary Marshall Hay was being held in connection with the theft of the police car from nearby Uplands airport.

Police said they recovered the cruiser after a "long-distance" conversation with the alleged thief over the two-way radio in the car, during which the voice in the stolen car taunted his pursuers.

After chasing the car and the voice for some 70 miles, police closed in by heading in the direction where the taunting voice was clearest and loudest.

Amateur Critics Axed For Glowing Reviews

NEW YORK (UPI) — New same names as the critics. Pictures of the "reviewers" were alongside the names.

New York newspapers yesterday rejected an advertisement which contained some of the most glowing "reviews" perhaps ever given a Broadway musical when it was learned the reviewers were strictly off Broadway.

The comments appeared in a full page ad beside the names of Broadway's top seven critics —but in fact were the comments of New Yorkers with the Statue In Flight?

Looking like a statue that's lost its water fountain, basketball player Frank Landrey (31) of Georgia Tech goes in for layup after being fouled by David Tremain (24) of Navy. The Sailors won, 64-62, in overtime.

Ken Sturrock's Clutch Shot Keeps Rink in Consols Play

Ken Sturrock came through with a clutch shot on last rock in the extra end at Victoria Curling Club last night for an 8-7 victory over Gordie Moore that put his rink into the "B" section final of the Consols curling playdowns.

The Sturrock rink now takes on Steve Hayhurst in the "B" section final tonight at 6.30, winner to meet "A" event winner Tony Gutoski, who will have to be beaten twice to miss playing in the men's Island final at Nanaimo Jan. 20 and 21.

WINS BERTH

In earlier play, favored Flora Martin won the right to represent the VCC in the Island ladies' playdowns scheduled for Nanaimo Jan. 13 and 14.

Sturrock broke a 5-5 tie with two in the 11th end against Moore, who came back with two in the 12th to tie it at 7-7.

Faced with two counters on the extra end as he went to shoot last rock, Sturrock hit the front rock on the inside and rolled to get shot rock by an inch, putting himself, Laurie Perlette, Ralph Schmidt and Bill Young into the "B" final.

Semi-finals were also played last night.

Sturrock had trouble with the surprising quartet skipped by Bernie Beech before coming out on top, 12-8, while Moore pulled away on the late ends to defeat Jim Dickson in the other men's playoff game on the early draw.

Beech, who had Carlos Bellagente, Irwin Shea and Al Maheux as his supporting cast, trailed by only 9-8 after nine ends but Sturrock counted two on the 10th for a three-rock lead. The 11th end was blanked but a couple of misses enabled Beech to retain his chance on the home end. However, Sturrock made two takeouts to stay each time and stole a point when Beech couldn't negotiate his last rock.

Almost perfect curling by Moore, three double takeouts and a raise takeout of shot rock by vice-skip Allan Paul proved too much for the Dickson rink in the other game.

FINE DOUBLE

Neither rink displayed the form of earlier games and Moore had a 6-4 lead starting the 10th end. He drew for one after Dickson had made a fine double on two back ring biters and took a three-rock lead into the 11th. A couple of misses gave Moore two rocks in the four-foot on the 11th with plenty of protection and he started home five rocks to the good.

Mrs. Martin completed the double round-robin between the champions from the Victoria Ladies' Curling Club and the Sunday Commercial League representatives with a perfect 4-0 record.

In last night's first game, she was an easy winner over Bernice Soper of the Sunday League, who failed to win a game. That assured Mrs. Martin of nothing worse than a tie for her final game against Renee Robbins of the VLCC but Mrs. Robbins couldn't cope with the VCC skip, who had a four-rock lead heading home and made it enough for a 10-7 victory.

Edythe Pick as vice-skip, Helen Edwards as second and Marion Smith as lead complete Mrs. Martin's rink.

First Round Hard to Beat

Playing his first game of golf in 1962, Dr. George Bigelow holed out a full drive at the seventh hole at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday.

His ball hit the green and took one bounce before dropping into the hole.

It was the ninth time Dr. Bigelow has holed out in one.

Draw Right Answer When Finish Nears

With the accent on youth in curling today there is a greater tendency to ignore the old-fashioned draw in favor of hitting when a choice presents itself. Many curlers too easily fall into the delusion that a take-out is an offensive action aimed at the opponents' vital parts and the harder they hit and the louder they sound, the more they convince themselves they are right.

On the contrary, to draw into scoring position is to take the offence. Every rock in the rings is a potential point. Don't think your opponent doesn't realize it. Even a stone hanging onto the 12-foot circle by its fingernails is a worry to the opposition and sometimes it can become a cancer in the mind of a defending skip who is a few meagre points ahead with end looming.

Doesn't it make sense then that if such a rock agitates your ulcer it will also give your opponent high blood pressure if he is faced with the same situation?

Too many skips today go on the defensive too soon. They look at the score, the end being played and begin the count-down. To state it bluntly these curling captains start subtracting instead of adding. They seem only concerned with protecting their lead instead of increasing it. The draw is the answer. Your average player is more consistent with quiet weight, too. Why build up his tension rash to rival your own when an opposing rock is biting the rings either front or back? Simmer down and draw!

Today's diagram illustrates a sad story that has been enacted in every curling club in Canada perhaps several times a week, but in this case the quarter-finals of a provincial championship had been reached and the stakes were high.

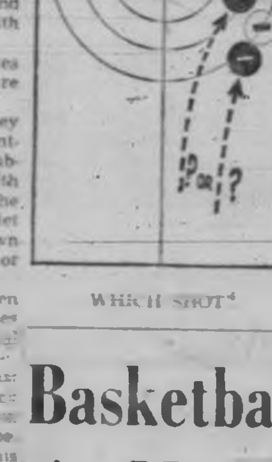

Our hero was three up playing the tenth without last rock. Using the hammer he lay shot at 10 o'clock on the back ring. His adversary had a biter up front (see diagram) when our boy took a look at things before he played his final stone.

After a few seconds sizing up the situation he gave his vice-skip ice for a take-out on No. 2 and walked down to the hack to play his shot. Unfortunately he missed.

The opposing skip, now with a new lease on life, drew quietly to No. 1 and nudged it far enough back to count two points. It hardly matters the game went 13 ends and our friend shook hands as the loser.

The story would have had a happier ending if he had drawn for second shot with his last rock instead of trying the take-out. In that case a single point was the most that could have been scored against him. True—hindsight is always better than foresight for plate glass skips like the writer; but the draw is still a mighty offensive weapon. Use it more often to cure the count-down curse!

WHICH SHOT?

Hawks Gaining Ground But One Point at Time

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

Pogo, bless his cotton-pickin' little heart, sent the most welcome gift of all—a day off, which went as follows:

"It is probably time to wish you season's greetings again, whether you need them or not. There is something relentless in the grin of the season and if you feel like having a perfectly miserable day, feel free. I am the last man to lead a horse of your color to water and absolutely the last to make him drink the stuff.

"The bowl-that-cheers used to be, for me at least, the Rose Bowl, but those days are gone. Now there are so many Bowls throughout the country that a man gets drunk just swiveling the TV. It is a bewildering season.

"There was a time when a crafty father could con the family into all sorts of wild wagers at the Year's end. The children were too small to understand the game or the odds, and if a loss was incurred they couldn't tell a dime from a half-dollar. Unless, of course, the family adviser was at hand.

"This last, the mother, was always a risky customer, it must be admitted. She was a great hunch player, betting, for example, ridiculous things such as a weak Washington team beating a champion aggregation from Minnesota.

* * *

I Don't Know, Who's Playing?

"Well, it was to laugh.

"I should have known better than to bet her anything after one experience. There was a curious year in which the Yankees and the Pirates, of all people, were to face each other in the series. I acquired several tickets in some forgotten but probably devious manner and asked the old girl if she would like to see the first home game.

"'Well, I don't know if I have time,' she replied. 'Who's playing?'

"When I had recovered my poise it seemed to me that here was a chick ripe for plucking and I suggested a mild wager. Naturally her knowledge of the possibilities was about as firm as her grasp of the league standings. I suppressed laughter and bet heavily, giving handsome odds, when she picked the Pirates. I'll grant that she didn't gloat afterwards; as a matter of fact, she had sort of forgotten which team was the apple of her eye.

"This year I am making no family bets about anything—that's the resolution of course—unless the odds are attractive. Last February 23, the day after Honest George was celebrated, a clear-eyed youth of 13 slumped into a chair in the studio and silently handed me a list entitled 'Pre-Spring Predictions 2-23-61.' After I read it I eyed him carefully to see whether he had found my Scotch bottle.

* * *

American League Looked Sane

"He said, 'Go ahead and laugh if you want to.'

"The American League line-up seemed sane. It had the Yankees first, Baltimore second, Chicago third, Minnesota fourth, then Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Los Angeles, Kansas City and Washington. It was the National League selections that raised my eyebrows. He had picked as follows: 1. Cincinnati (spelled right, too); 2. Milwaukee; 3. San Francisco; 4. L.A.; 5. Pittsburgh; 6. St. Louis; 7. Chicago; 8. Philadelphia.

"Naturally, I gave odds.

"He returned about April and said he had a few corrections to make. He said it looked as though Baltimore would have to fight off Detroit. He picked Detroit for third and possibly second. I offered more money. He then said in the National League he was dropping Milwaukee to third, putting L.A. second and switching San Francisco to fourth.

"Pittsburgh and St. Louis were going to fight over fifth and sixth. Chicago stayed seventh and the Phillies were solid for eighth. When I discreetly inquired if that meant Cincinnati remained at the top, he explained quietly, 'Natch.'

"I upped the odds. Through the summer I made sure the lad mowed a few lawns so he'd have something to pay off with.

* * *

With Downcast Eyes

"After I'd settled my account in October, the having picked the Yankees in six or sooner, I having given Cincinnati a chance, he drew a clipping from his pocket. It was glued to the 'Pre-Spring Predictions' and was offered with downcast eyes. It was an AP clip from Cincinnati and it said:

"'Somewhere back in the hills or underbrush there may be a man, woman or child who publicly, before the season opened, picked the Reds to win the 1961 pennant. If there be such a person, he or she should come forth and be honored.'

"'Well,' I said, 'why didn't you come forth?'

"'I wasn't in any hills or underbrush,' he replied, 'and betting with you isn't as public a game as you'd think.'

"So I just want to make this as public as possible. As soon as Peter Kelly's thoughts jell I will wire you about the 1962 season so we can clean up. It should be added that in the Patterson-McNeeley fight he disdained to pick a winner, but condescended to pick the fourth round. He won a dime.

"How old does a kid have to be before his father can take him to a horse track in New York?

"With all good wishes for '62.

"Walt Kelly"

"Tie" is getting to be a nasty word around the dressing room of the Chicago Black Hawks, and with good reason.

The Hawks have a seven-game unbeaten streak going in the National Hockey League, but there are only two victories in that string. The other five are ties, the latest a 1-1 draw with the Red Wings last night in Detroit.

Of course, tying is much better than losing, and the Hawks have been gaining ground. They are only two points behind third-place New York, and four points ahead of the Wings.

Last night's score: Chicago 1 at Detroit 1.

Next games, Saturday: New York at Montreal, Chicago at Toronto, Detroit at Boston.

But coach Rudy Pilous and his Hawks can't help but think of where they'd be if those five ties (1-1 and 2-2 with Detroit, 3-3 and 0-0 with Toronto and 4-4 with Montreal) had been victories.

GOOD WISHING

If that seven-game streak had produced all victories, the Hawks would be sitting in third place, only two points behind second-place Toronto and just four behind the league-leading Canadiens. They'd have a three-point edge on the Rangers and the Wings would be a distant 11 points behind.

It makes good wishing, but that's all.

If Chicago's Moose Vasko hadn't been in the wrong place at the right time last night, the Hawks would have had one less tie and one more victory.

LOOKED ROSY

Bronco Horvath had taken a pass from Stan Mikita at 3.14 of the second period and beaten Terry Sawchuk for a 1-0 lead. The Hawks were pressing, and Glenn Hall was playing unbeatable goal for them. Things looked rosy until 11.54.

Then Alex Delvecchio got the puck in the corner, and passed it in front of the Chicago net. The puck hit Vasko's leg, and caromed off it into the net before the disbelieving Hall could twitch a muscle.

ONE SHORT

Delvecchio's goal was his 13th of the season, and left him one short of becoming the 11th active NHL player to score 200 goals.

Hall, who has given up only two goals in the last three games, made 30 saves, 13 of them in the second period. Sawchuk made only 17 but was good when he had to be, holding off the Hawks when they had a two-man advantage for slightly more than a minute in the second period.

Can't Wait For Bobby

"When Bobby Hull starts moving, so will Chicago Black Hawks. As Hull goes, so go the Hawks."

But there's one Black Hawk who isn't standing around waiting for Chicago's Golden Boy to get moving. Skinny Stan Mikita is playing like Hull used to, and challenging for the National Hockey League scoring championship.

With the season just over the halfway mark, Mikita has 11 goals and 28 assists for 39 points, only two fewer than Detroit's great Gordie Howe and 11 off the pace being set by Andy Bathgate of New York.

Playing second fiddle to Hull is an old story to Mikita. Both were juniors with St. Catherines Teepees, and Hull drew all the raves.

But Mikita made the jump to the NHL at the age of 19 without benefit of a day in the minor leagues. That first season he had eight goals, 18 assists, and a whopping 119 minutes in the penalty box.

CUTS PENALTIES

He cut the penalty time to 100 minutes last year and has 50 this season. Tommy Ivan, Chicago general manager, is convinced that if Mikita could stay out of the penalty box he'd win the scoring championship.

Mikita is playing as though he believes it, and this time the positions in his annual competition with Hull are reversed.

Mikita is third, Hull 15th, in league scoring.

Seattle Solves Flyers at Last

It took five tries to do it, but Seattle Totems finally beat Edmonton Flyers last night in the northern division of the Western Hockey League, winning 6-4 before 2,640 fans at Edmonton.

In four previous games with Flyers, the Totems had managed only one point from a tie. Last night they blew a 2-0 lead, went into the third period tied 3-3, and rapped in three goals before Ed Joyal scored for Flyers with 45 seconds left.

Gerry Leonard, Bill MacFarland, Guyle Fielder, Don Ward, Ivan Prediger and Ron Hutchison scored for Totems. Hutchison's goal came with the Edmonton net empty as Flyers used an extra forward in the last two minutes with the score 5-3.

MISSED LUNDE

Doug Messier, moved up from defence to right wing, Forbes Kennedy, Roger DeJordy and Joyal scored for the Flyers, who sorely missed centre Len Lunde, now with the parent Detroit Red Wings.

In Los Angeles, Bruce Carmichael scored his 11th goal of the season at 18.34 of the final period to give the Blades a 5-4 victory over San Francisco Seals.

Seals, who held the lead three times, had come from behind to tie the score at 4-4 on Harry Pidhirny's goal at the 13.10 mark of the third period.

League scoring leader Gerry Goyer didn't get a point, but as he almost always does when Goyer slows down, Willie O'Ree was there to take up the slack.

O'Ree had two goals and Jim Powers and Ed Panagabko got the others. Pidhirny led the Seals with two and Al Nicholson and Buddy Boone had one each.

Blades and Seals have now played each other eight times and won four each.

Half Season at Least?

U.S. Army May Give Up Stars

WASHINGTON (AP)—Major league baseball players called to active United States military service last fall probably will not make spring training, but they may see action before the 1962 season is half over.

There has been no definite decision, but it appears possible that such players as Tony Kubek of New York Yankees and Ron Hansen of Baltimore Orioles, both shortstops, may be cavorting around the infield before July 4.

President Kennedy announced Wednesday that two new regular army divisions will be formed this year. The announcement said the two national guard divisions and assorted guard and reserve units formed in September and October "will be released this year as the international situation and the readiness status of the two new devisions permit."

Defence department officials indicate they hope to release the units by June 30.

Professional football players, many of whom managed to finish the 1961 season by obtaining weekend passes, will be demobilized in plenty of time for the 1962 season if the June 30 date is achieved.

Besides Kubek and Hansen, major leaguers called to active duty last fall included Steve Barber and Barry Shetrone of Baltimore, Bob Johnson of Washington Senators, Jim Grant, Wynn Hawkins and Walter Bond of Cleveland Indians, Dick McAuliffe of Detroit Tigers, George Thomas of Los Angeles Angels, Reuben Wamsley and Jim Coker of Philadelphia Phillies, Dick Bertell of Chicago Cubs and John Orsino of San Francisco Giants.

Basketball on Wheels At Mt. View School

Opening game of the Northwest Wheelchair Basketball Conference schedule will be held at Mount View High School gym Saturday night at 8.30. Vancouver Powerglides play Victoria's Independent Foresters Rockets.

Other teams in the four-team league are Seattle Flyers and Tacoma Wheelers.

Second game of the week-end series will be held at HMCS Naden gym Sunday afternoon at 2 with the same opponents in action.

The provincial parks branch has the opportunity to make its official opening of the new Bedwell Harbor marine park, to be built on 83 acres of property donated by Capt. E. G. Beaumont and Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited, the biggest marine event opening ceremony the Canadian Pacific Northwest has ever known.

Next July 28, the Gulf Islands waters will be scene of the world's largest power cruiser event—the International Cruiser Race, which will see several million dollars' worth of pleasure craft take part in a predicted log race, finishing at the World's Fair in Seattle.

Bedwell Harbor was the original choice for the starting point, after Nanaimo had relinquished its traditional claim following a spirited battle. Now Roche Harbor on the U.S. side in the San Juan Islands is the choice, with the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, which will host the event, still hoping to make Cadboro Bay the starting point.

Final decision will be made at a Feb. 10 meeting in Vancouver.

We feel that wherever it is decided to hold the start of the world's biggest cruiser race it would be a good idea for the parks branch to take advantage of the occasion to draw attention to its marine parks by holding an official dedication party at Bedwell Harbor, and inviting all cruiser entrants to attend. This dedication party could be held on July 27, the night before the big race.

* * *

Bedwell Harbor, between South and North Pender Islands, is already a favorite rendezvous for Gulf Islands yachting parties and is also a training base for navy ships. An outstanding feature is the high sheer cliffs on which crew members of visiting navy ships have painted, in 10, 20 and 30 foot high printing, the names of the ships which have visited there for several decades. The cliffs read like a port record or visitors' book.

There is some thought in the parks branch that these names deface the wilderness atmosphere and it is possible they will be obliterated when park development takes place.

On the other hand, many boaters make special trips to Bedwell Harbor to see the ship names painted on the cliffs and consider them as a sort of a shrine, where naval history is written, almost like the old Indian pictographs. It is the extra unique attraction that makes Bedwell Harbor a "must call" on any yachting cruise in those waters.

But, if the yachtsmen feel strongly about the cliff painting one way or the other, they should let the parks branch know now, because the ship names could be obliterated soon.

* * *

There is some talk that a marine hotel will soon be built at Bedwell Harbor by private interests.

Still a mystery on the marine park scene is Princess Margaret's Island.

The island, formerly Portland Island, was presented to Princess Margaret when she visited British Columbia, but as yet she has given no indication as to how she plans to use it. Observers at the time thought it would probably be developed as a marine park in honor of Princess Margaret.

Legally, if you want to camp on the island now, you have to first write to Princess Margaret and get permission.

Vikings' Leader

Leading Victoria University Vikings back into action in Esquimalt District Hockey League against Navy tonight at 9.15 will be Ross Grenier, league's high scorer with 13 points. Army and Esquimalt Chiefs open doubleheader at 8.45 at Sports Centre. — (Peter Chapman photo.)

India Beats England To Lead Test Series

CALCUTTA (Reuters)—India defeated England by 187 runs here Thursday and grabbed a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five cricket test series between the two countries.

It was only the second Indian victory in the history of test matches with England. India now needs only a draw in the final match to clinch the series. The first three matches ended in draws.

The final scores in the match which ended Thursday were: India 380 and 252; England 212 and 233.

An excited crowd of 35,000 went wild when India clinched the victory with slightly more than two hours left for play on the final day of the five-day match.

A sixth-wicket stand of 66 by Peter Parfitt (46) and Barry Knight (39 not out) held the Indians up for a time but after Parfitt was out the remaining batsmen offered little resistance.

BIG BREAKTHROUGH

The home team made its big breakthrough in the first 15 minutes of play when England captain Ted Dexter was out for 62. After that, India's victory was only a matter of time.

New Zealand Knots Series

CAPE TOWN (Reuters)—New Zealand beat South Africa by 72 runs with 27 minutes to spare on the final day of the third unofficial cricket test here Thursday.

New Zealand's victory, only its second international victory in top-flight cricket, squared the five-match series at 1-1.

Final scores: New Zealand 385 and 212 for nine declared; South Africa 190 and 335.

Swimming Mishap

Damage Claim Against City Dismissed

A damage claim against the city of Victoria was dismissed in B.C. Supreme Court yesterday.

The suit was brought by William Jack Gallard, 3932 Cumberland, on behalf of his son, 15-year-old Marcus Gallard, injured in a swimming accident at Beaver Lake on July 12, 1960.

The boy suffered severe injuries to his right hand and wrist when he stumbled and fell on a submerged stump.

AT LEAST $2,500

His counsel, Gerald Lauder, had asked general damages of "at least" $2,500.

Mr. Justice Wootton, in his written judgment, said the city had taken "reasonable care" against injury to swimmers at the lake.

He said the evidence showed it would be impossible for the city to clear such a large natural area of all danger since the bottom of a lake must always be of "uncertain condition."

BOY WAS RUNNING

He said the boy must have been aware of the conditions and added that the severe injuries resulted because the boy was running from the water.

Raising of the water level at Beaver Lake some years ago had submerged tree stumps and other obstacles, the judge noted.

The city had dumped large quantities of sand and many of the obstacles were blasted away by Royal Canadian Navy volunteers as a means of counteracting the danger.

"It is quite obvious that Beaver Lake is not a place capable of perfect conditions," added Mr. Justice Wootton.

He awarded court costs in favor of the city.

Skeena Skipper

Cmdr. Richard Leir, 40, of Penticton, will succeed Cmdr. A. L. Collier as commanding officer of the destroyer-escort Skeena Jan. 11. Cmdr Leir, who has been a training officer at HMCS Stadacona in Halifax for the past two years, last served here as captain of the minesweeper Fortune when she was commissioned in 1954.

Man Charged

Condition of Truck Called Disgraceful

A "mechanic's special" landed a city trucker in court yesterday on a charge of operating a defective vehicle.

Jaswan Singh Dhillon, 518 John, was remanded to Jan. 8 for sentence and ordered to put the truck in condition before his reappearance in court.

The court learned that the truck, which Jaswan said was being used to take a load off another truck which had broken down, had no horn, windshield wipers, reflectors, rear light, emergency brake, clearance lights or licence plate light, and the body of the truck leaned out too far.

"Except for the motor, what did it have?" asked Magistrate William Ostler.

"Apparently it had four wheels and a horn button," replied prosecutor Angus Smith.

"At this time of year, when driving conditions are hazardous, it is disgraceful to be operating a vehicle in this condition," the magistrate told accused.

'Holdup' Death Natural?

MONTREAL (CP) — Preliminary report on the autopsy of Jacob Yanofsky, 77—found in a pool of blood on the floor of his second-hand store Wednesday — indicates his death may have been of natural causes.

There had been speculation that Yanofsky had been shot or beaten during a robbery attempt.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver harbor was cluttered with tons of floating debris Thursday — everything from sawdust to huge logs. National Harbors Board officials blamed a combination of brisk westerly winds and high winter tides for the concentration. Harbor Board tugs were sweeping the harbor.

First Firm Faces Trial In 'Normal' Price Deal

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has made two investigations of allegedly trumped-up "regular" prices in retail advertising and is ready to prosecute in one case, sources said yesterday.

Charges already have been laid in Toronto against Eddie Black's Ltd., a large store selling photographic equipment, alleging it misrepresented the "normal" or "regular" prices listed alongside its "sale" prices in newspaper ads.

The case is scheduled to be heard Jan. 16 in Toronto magistrate's court. It will be the first test of the 1960 edition to the section of the Combines Investigation Act dealing with unfair trade practices.

The clause does not apply to those who publish such ads in good faith.

Market Move

Canada to Step Up Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has agreed to step up its detailed trade consultations with Britain during the remaining stages of the momentous British negotiations for membership in the European Common Market.

That was the main development which emerged Thursday at the close of two days of talks between Canadian cabinet ministers and Britain's Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath.

Heath, the British minister in charge of the negotiations at Brussels, told a press conference that one of the meeting's important achievements was that the Canadian government would supply "the fullest information on Canadian interests" during the negotiations.

Finance Minister Fleming, who also attended the press conference, said the aim is to provide British negotiators with complete information on any trade question affecting Canada. Top-flight Canadian trade officials would be added to the Canadian mission at Brussels "very quickly now."

But Fleming declined to say whether the talks here have increased his hopes that Britain will be able to get adequate protection and concessions for Canadian exports in the event of Britiain deciding to join the six-nation European trading bloc.

Questioned about press references to a "simmering feud" between Canada and Britain over the Common Market, Heath said "I couldn't have had a warmer welcome in Ottawa."

More Entries Hoped

Extra Grant Asked For City Parade

Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee has asked city council for an increased grant this year to provide expanded Victoria Day celebrations with a centennial theme.

Main hope of the committee is to give larger prizes to encourage more entries in the May 21 parade, the only one planned during the centennial celebrations.

Council grant to the committee last year was $2,600. Prize money for floats last year was $60, $40 and $25.

The centennial theme will be used in the parade, to be called "A Century of Progress."

In his letter to city council asking for a larger grant this year, committee chairman Joseph Wright referred to a recommendation of last year's city council to the 1962 council—"that the city council recommend to the incoming council of 1962 that it give serious consideration to increasing the 1962 grant to the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association."

The request might be discussed at Monday's meeting of city council.

$8,000 Bail Posted for Gibb Trial to Start in March

Bail of $8,000 was posted yesterday for the release of Robert Gibb, 22, facing trial on four charges of possession of drugs, housebreaking instruments and stolen goods.

The charges will go on trial in the Spring Assizes which open in March.

Gibb earlier lost a bid to have preliminary hearing committals to trial on the four counts quashed.

Bail was set in Supreme Court earlier after a hearing in chambers of an application for a writ of habeas corpus and certiorari in-aid. The amounts were $5,000 on the drug charge and $1,000 each on the other three counts.

In Committees

Wilson Planning Major Changes?

Speech Monday

A program of sweeping changes in city committees and committee members is expected as part of Mayor R. B. Wilson's inaugural speech Monday.

While of less importance than some other matters almost sure to be included in the speech, composition of committees ranks high in the minds of aldermen.

In 1961 there were 45 city committees, distributed under three general headings — finance, parks and public works.

MEMBERS FOR YEARS

Some aldermen have been members of the same committees for years, and change is likely to ruffle a few feathers.

Mayor Wilson has been questioning city hall staff and aldermen about committees since he took office Tuesday.

It is possible his speech will deal with the way council handles the sale of public land. Mayor Wilson is known to be disturbed about the recent sale of Kingston Street property to the provincial government.

IN CLOSED SESSION

Council's decision to sell to the provincial government was reached in closed session and must come before an open meeting of council for ratification. It will likely come before Monday afternoon's meeting.

Implementation of the full scale urban renewal plan prepared by the Capital Region Planning Board is known to be a prime item on the new mayor's agenda.

FULL BRIEFING

He conferred yesterday with Anthony Roberts, planning director of the board, for a full briefing.

The 68-page report recommends a $5,000,000, six-year program to revitalize Victoria, scheduled to begin this year. Federal and provincial governments would pay 75 per cent of all approved costs under the scheme.

NEW DEPARTMENT

Mayor Wilson's address will likely call for creation of a city department to carry out the urban renewal scheme.

He has already sought information about administrative procedures from Vancouver.

And amalgamation is almost inevitably one of the items to be included in the inaugural address.

INFORMAL MEETINGS

Mayor Wilson has already had one informal meeting with Reeve Stanley Murphy of Saanich to discuss amalgamation and it will be one of the main topics when he meets other civic leaders over lunch Tuesday.

Construction of off-street downtown parking facilities, provision of a new city hall, and the bus service problem are also expected to draw mention.

Feeding Time

Pigeons' pal, Tom Warrington, 1345 Pembroke, arrives on schedule daily to scatter corn for local pigeons. Mr. Warrington brings a bag of corn to Yates and Douglas daily for his feeding chore. The birds have come to know him and flock around as he approaches.—(Robin Clarke photo.)

Firm's Salvage Fee Anybody's Guess

It's anybody's guess how much Island Tug and Barge will receive in salvage fees for bringing the crippled Ss. Glafkos safely to port.

The job was taken on a "no cure, no pay" basis under a Lloyd's open form contract. If the ship was lost, ITB would receive no pay whatever.

Success, however, means the amount will be fixed by arbitration in London.

Hospital Plans Public Drive For $350,000

St. Joseph's Hospital will conduct a $350,000 public fund-raising drive in February for its proposed $2,700,000 construction and renovation program, a hospital spokesman said yesterday.

One phase of the planned expansion likely will start later this year with enlargement of the emergency department to include space now used for admitting, information and telephone switchboard, he said.

NEW BOILERS

These three services will then be relocated into a nearby, "more convenient" area.

Two new, large boilers have to be installed in the boiler room and two old boilers removed before the hospital can go ahead with construction of a five-storey, 115-bed wing, a new laundry and other improvements.

Hospital officials recently informed local municipalities, pledged to a combined total of $300,000, that groundwork has already started for the $350,000 community fund drive.

The Sisters of St. Ann have pledged $490,000 and the remainder of the $2,700,000 cost is to be met by provincial and federal grants.

APPROVAL SOUGHT

The hospital is now seeking provincial government approval for working drawings on phases leading up to the major part of the project, the 115-bed wing.

Bennett To Talk Formula

Premier Bennett promised yesterday he would have quite a bit to say about the province's new assessment formula when he brings down his 1962 provincial budget Feb. 9.

"Of all the technical changes we have brought in this has won the widest acclaim from the experts for its boldness and commonsense," said the premier yesterday.

Municipalities have let out howls of anguish that the new B.C. assessment formula can only lead to higher taxes for homeowners.

But, says Premier Bennett, if taxes do go up don't blame the provincial government. There is no reason why municipal councils cannot cut their mill rates for general purposes to make up for any increases in assessments.

The change in formula, which was recommended by the B.C. Association of Assessors, sets assessment at 50 per cent of the market value of the property today.

Under the old system assessments were worked out at 60 per cent of the 1953 value of the house and 60 per cent of the 1955 value of the land.

* * *

Property Owners Benefit

Hundreds of city property owners are taking advantage of the four per cent discount allowed on city taxes paid in advance.

Up to 5 p.m. yesterday some $198,000 in advance taxes had been paid and the total discount amounted to several thousand dollars.

For the first two days of 1962, a total of $162,500 was paid.

Prepayments yesterday were $113,400, a substantial jump over the $84,666 paid Wednesday.

The four per cent discount is calculated for the period from payment of taxes until July 31.

Credit for the prepayment and discount is shown on tax notices when they are sent out about June.

Curiosity Rather Than Scorn

Greater Victoria municipal officials yesterday reported more curiosity than complaints over increased home assessments.

Most inquiries were made at Saanich and Oak Bay, with only a few in Victoria and Esquimalt.

"We have had quite a few inquiries, but it is early yet," said Colin Wyatt, assistant Oak Bay assessor.

"Once they know it is a change in the Equalization of Assessment Act they are quite reasonable—they don't like it but they know it cannot be helped."

Calm Waters at Last

Ss. Glafkos lists slightly to port as it moves quietly up to Esquimalt graving dock at the end of 100-mile tow from stormy west coast. Salvage tugs are Island Challenger, ahead, and Sudbury on starboard side.—(Peter Chapman photo.)

Can't Find That Word — But Chief Officer Can

Greek Skipper Keeps Silent

By IAN STREET

* * *

CAPT. FOTIOS PETRATOS
. . . takes to heels

The Greek captain looked warily up and down the wall of Esquimalt graving dock.

No reporters or photographers were in sight.

Captain Fotios Petratos descended the rickety ladder from the deck of Ss. Glafkos tied alongside, and paced slowly along the dock, intently studying the rusty hull plates.

STOPPED HIM

Sound of running footsteps and shouts of "captain, captain," stopped him in his tracks.

The captain turned, spotted a couple of news photographers coming at the dead run, and took to his heels.

A row of grinning shipyard workers witnessed the "interview" that followed.

SHEEPISH GRIN

It went like this:

"Captain, are you glad to be safely back in port?"

The Greek skipper stopped halfway up the ladder and grinned sheepishly. He shrugged and turned down the corners of his mouth.

"Did you think you'd lost your ship?" Nothing.

"Captain, have you anything to say about the men who saved your ship?" Nothing.

"May we come aboard and talk?" An emphatic wave of the hand and the captain was gone.

This was the only direct encounter between skipper and press in more than two hours of hide-and-seek. The ship was declared off-limits to reporters as soon as it arrived and those aboard played a waiting game with some success.

'WITHOUT HOPE'

The press group split up and only two were left at the end.

As they were leaving, the chief officer, Dimitri Dimitriou, came ashore.

His eyes filled with tears as he told of the three-day ordeal.

"We were people without hope," he said. "Any time, we could have gone to death. We have to thank God and the Canadian air force and salvage people who save us."

The Night That Bennett Was Faster Than CPR

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

FOLLOW THAT TRAIN: Some of the best stories about Premier Bennett never make print.

Take, for example, the time he was travelling to Ottawa for a federal-provincial conference and decided to take a late night constitutional when his train pulled into a lonely little whistle stop.

The premier, and his then executive assistant, Ronald Worley, got off the train and looked about.

"We'll walk up to that light and back," said Premier Bennett.

"Gosh, we'll never make that," replied Mr. Worley.

"Of course we will," answered the premier, striding off.

They'd hardly reached the light when the train pulled out.

"Now what'll we do," said the anguished Mr. Worley.

"Grab that cab," said the premier.

"Catch that train," the driver was ordered.

"That won't stop again for 60 miles," observed the driver.

"Well, get us there first," shouted the premier.

The driver obeyed, stepped on the gas, and sped away at breakneck speed.

"Say driver," said Mr. Worley. "Take it easy. You know you've got the premier of British Columbia in here."

"Sure," said the driver. "And I'm King Farouk."

There was nothing Premier Bennett and Mr. Worley could do but hang on until the 60-mile trip was over.

They paid a phenomenal fare and climbed aboard the CPR train.

No sooner had they reached their carriage than the big night porter strolled along.

"Holy mackerel, gentlemen," said the porter. "I sure thought you'd have been in bed hours ago."

* * *

STARTING THEM YOUNG: Cutest story of the New Year's Day rounds this year was that of the father who turned up at Government House—with his nine month old son.

He went downstairs where members of the Salaetum Junior League were checking hats and coats and checked his baby.

Then up the stairs he went, shook hands with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, had a couple of drinks, then went back to pick up his son and walk off down the driveway.

* * *

UNKNOWN QUANTITY: What's the latest on the Pacific Northern Railway? We asked hard-pressed Transport Minister Earle Westwood yesterday.

The minister shook his head slowly.

"Well now, that's the $64 question," he said as he slipped inside the cabinet door.

* * *

THE THINGS WE HEAR: The provincial government will probably delay the official opening of the new law courts building so that the honor of officiating at the ceremony may go to the Princess Royal, due to visit here this summer. Works Minister W. N. Chant said yesterday the staff could be in the building for months before the official ceremony was held . . . Former city mayor Percy Scurrah, who is now enjoying life as just another private citizen, was presented with a treasured item at yesterday's meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club. It was the white hard hat he wore when he sawed into that downtown power pole last week. The hat was inscribed: "Faller Extraordinary."

SHIFTY BUSINESS: Yesterday morning's headline "Skillings Chosen to Move Address" caught the eye of Roger, the 11-year-old son of Victoria Social MLA Waldo Skillings.

Roger didn't wait to read the story that his father had the honor to move the address in reply to the Throne Speech when the legislature meets later this month.

He just blurted out: "But where do we have to move to, Dad?"

At Art Gallery

Winter Classes In Art Begin

Winter session of art classes for children and adults begin Jan. 16 and 22, the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria has announced.

Eight classes have been arranged for children ranging in age from 4 to 15.

Children from 4 to 6 will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m., Saturdays at 9 a.m.; children from 7 to 9, Tuesdays from 3.45 to 5 p.m.; children from 6 to 8, Wednesdays from 3.45 to 5 p.m.; children from 10 to 13, Thursdays from 3.45 to 5 p.m., and those from 12 to 15, Fridays from 3.45 to 5 p.m.

Teachers will be Mrs. C. McLauchlan, Mrs. W. L. McLauchlan, Mrs. W. L. Fahey, Mrs. Rita Morris, Mrs. C. P. V. Forrest and Mrs. F. Slaney.

For adults, Vancouver painter Arnold Burrell will give two 10-week courses in landscape and still life in oils, one Monday afternoons and the other Monday evenings. Victoria artist Stephen Lowe will give a course on Chinese painting Thursday evenings, and Victoria portrait artist Gary Ness will offer two courses on figure painting, portraiture, anatomy and composition, Wednesday mornings and Wednesday evenings.

Depot to Hold Rocket Shoot

Recruits of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry regimental depot will carry out firing exercises with 3.5-inch anti-tank rocket launchers Saturday, starting at 8.30 a.m. at the Mary Hill range.

New High-Rise

Tenants May Rent

Vancouver developer David Blake told the Colonist last night he has decided to build a rental type high-rise apartment in Victoria rather than a tenant-owned building as originally planned.

He was sold 3½ acres of land in the Rockland district between Terrace and Belmont by the city for $35,000 on terms that he will build a 12-storey high-rise apartment there.

Difficulties experienced by developers in selling tenant-owned apartments in Vancouver caused him to change his mind, he said.

Internal designs for the proposed $1,500,000 structure will have to be redrawn although it is understood the changes will not be noticeable from the outside of the building.

"We are starting again on the plans will be finished or when construction will start."

"There is no sense in rushing the thing and later finding something wrong with the design," he added.

Seen In Passing

Walter Thorne admiring the view from a roof. He is manager of a Douglas Street apartment building and lives with his wife Alice at the apartment, 240 Douglas. His hobby is reading . . . Betty Wadsworth asking about a letter . . . Len Smith writing a story . . . E. W. Thomas answering the phone . . . Murray Gaw talking to newsmen . . . Maurice Cownden being helpful . . . Chuck MacLeod passing out calendars . . . Laurie Belfry, all alone . . . May Guthrie heading for coffee . . . John Howe amazed at the size of a bin.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: What can a person say to a proud father who buttonholes you on the street, in the office, or at a social affair and pulls out a billfold loaded with pictures of his kids? Usually you get a 15-minute monologue along with the pictures.

I'm a father, too, and my kids happen to be very attractive, but I wouldn't dream of imposing on people this way.

Yesterday a former neighbor grabbed me in an elevator and pulled me off at his floor to show me pictures of his children. They were the homeliest collection of toothless monsters I have ever laid eyes on.

Of course I had to say "Aren't they cute?" I felt like a liar and a jerk. Is there an out?—SANTA BARBARA.

Dear Santa: Sorry, but you can't say, "This is the homeliest collection of toothless monsters I have ever laid eyes on."

Since you insist on being factual, I suggest Samuel Goldwyn's famous line when he was asked to view a competitor's movie. He smiled and said "You've really got a picture there!"

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: My Aunt Eva raised me after my mother died in a TB sanitarium.

She was so brutal and heartless that I quit school and left home the very day I was legally able to do so. I batted around plenty but God must have been watching over me because I met a wonderful guy and married at 18.

We've been married seven years, have a lovely home and three fine little ones.

Aunt Eva comes over almost every day, rain or shine, and makes my life unbearable. She threw out all my pots and pans because she says aluminum causes cancer. She also threw out my electric heating pad and sun lamp because she read that too much heat could cause diabetes. I think she's mentally ill and have suggested therapy. She says she's perfect—it's the doctors who are crazy.

After seven years I'm a nervous wreck. My physician says I must put an end to her visits. How can I?—NYACK.

Dear Nyack: If tomatoes made you deathly ill you'd eliminate them from your diet, wouldn't you? Well, when people make you sick—do the same thing.

You needn't subject yourself to Aunt Eva's punishment. Tell her she can visit you by invitation only (doctor's orders) and invite her when (or if) you feel up to it.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: We are worried about our 14½-year-old son. He is 5'10", weighs 170 pounds and his voice hasn't begun to change yet. Several of the fellows he goes with speak in a semi-manly voice, but our son hasn't shown the slightest sign of a change.

It's embarrassing to him because when he answers the phone he is mistaken for his younger sister.

My husband says his voice didn't change until he was 16, but I don't think he remembers, actually. Shall I take the boy to a doctor?—WORRIED.

Dear Worried: Yes. He will probably tell you to relax—that the boy's maturation is a little slow. But you'll all feel better when you get a physician's reassurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Way, 1652 Cyril Close and of Port Renfrew, B.C., announce the engagement of their only daughter, Myrna Leslie, to Mr. Robert William Edwardson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Edwardson, Madeira Park, Pender Harbor, B.C. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Feb. 3, at 8 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church.—(Jus-Rite photos.)

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Curry, 3275 Alder Street, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Myrtle Gladys, to Mr. Raymond Andrew Willie, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Willie, Dealisle, Sask. The wedding will take place in St. Andrew's Cathedral at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 3, with Father J. P. Belanger officiating.—(Starr photo.)

Unwin-Mackintosh Vows In Centennial United

Entering Centennial United Church with bride—Miss Catherine Maureen Mackintosh, were two attendants in gowns of green velvet. Maid of honor, Miss Caroline Wattie, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Robert Straith, wore stunning, bustle-back gowns with matching head bows, complemented with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and ivy.

The mossy green was in lovely contrast to the striking white of the bridal gown of heavy silk taffeta fashioned with lace appliques at the neckline and front of full, floor-length skirt. The lowered waistline drifted softly to a chapel train. Sleeves were cap style. A lace-edged veil of silk illusion net misted from a coronet of seed pearls and crystals. She carried gardenias and ivy.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. C. Mackintosh, Dallas Road, was escorted by her father up the aisle to where she was met by her groom, Mr. William David Unwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Unwin, Newton Street.

Mr. Robert Showers was best man, and ushering guests to pews marked with white heather and tartan and white ribbons were Mr. Merlin Hawes and Mr. Brock Mackintosh, brother of the bride.

Dr. S. J. Parsons officiated at the afternoon ceremony, for which the church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and laurel leaves. Arthur Unwin was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. M. Wilmshurst, organist.

At a reception held in the Old Charming Inn, Mr. Darrell Hughes proposed the toast to the bride. Assisting as serviteurs were the Misses Kathleen Couch, Janie Dawe, Julia Dawe and Linda Hughes.

For her going-away costume the bride wore a magenta two-piece dress and hat en tone with olive green topcoat and black accessories. Her corsage was a gardenia.

After a honeymoon trip to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Unwin will make their home in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Donawa Married in Cathedral

Mr. and Mrs. William Geoffrey Donawa who were married in Christ Church Cathedral on Wednesday will live in Guelph, Ont., where the groom is completing his studies at Ontario Veterinary College and next summer they will go to the Barbados.

Dean Brian Whitlow officiated at the 12 noon ceremony for the former Margaret Wendy Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Love, 1316 Point Street, and the son of Mr. V. O. W. Donawa, Trinidad, B.W.I., and Mrs. E. Donawa, Barbados.

Holly, chrysanthemums and ivy decorated the altar and the wedding music, was "Sheep May Safely Graze," Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" and Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was a picture in her gown of white peau de soie with full length bell skirt, round neckline and fitted elbow length sleeves. A circlet of peau de soie held her shoulder length veil and she carried white roses, holly and ivy. Pearl earrings were her jewelry. Mr. Love gave his daughter in marriage.

Bridal attendants, Mrs. Ted Shackleford and Miss Robin Maunsell wore gowns of mistletoe green delustred satin, princess style with high necklines and elbow length sleeves. Their head wreaths were of ivy and tiny white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Martin Donawa of Barbados was best man for his brother and Mr. Roland Bishop showed guests to the pews.

The reception was held at the Old England Inn, decorated for the festive season. Mr. Norman Lidster proposed the toast.

Leaving for Vancouver to spend a honeymoon before going east the bride chose a wool dress, striped in black, green and blue, black topcoat and black accessories.

Jacqueline Kennedy Heads List of Best-Dressed

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was named the best dressed woman in the world for 1961 today, the second straight year she has been elected to the honor.

The 2,000 fashion experts who voted in the New York Couture Group's annual poll added two of the first lady's circle to the list of the best dressed dozen. They were her sister, Princess Stanislas Radziwill of London, and a close friend, Mrs. Charles B. Wrightsman of Palm Beach, Fla.

Running second to Mrs. Kennedy in the voting was Mrs. Loel Guinness, a grandmother every bit as glamorous as Marlene Dietrich. Mrs. Guinness, the former Gloria Rubio of Mexico City, is the wife of an international banker whose family brews the famous Irish Guinness stout.

In addition to Princess Radziwill and Mrs. Wrightsman, wife of a Texas-Oklahoma oil tycoon, there were two other new names on the list—Mme. Herve Alphand, wife of the French ambassador to the United States, and Signora Uberto Agnelli of Turin, Italy, whose husband's family manufactures the Fiat automobile.

The others listed were holdovers from 1960 and included Queen Sirikit of Thailand, Princess Alexandra of Kent, Signora, Gianni Agnelli (sister-in-law of Signora Uberto Agnelli), Vicomtesse Jackqueline de Ribes of Paris, socialite Mrs. John Barry Ryan III of New York, and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, wife of the U.S. Ambassador to Britain.

Two long-time listees—actress Audrey Hepburn and socialite Mrs. Norman K. Winston—were removed from the annual competition by elevation to the fashion hall of fame, which includes the Duchess of Windsor, Queen Elizabeth II, and Princess Grace of Monaco. Mrs. Winston, wife of a New York housing developer, was the first woman of American Indian blood to make the fashion summit.

The couture group cited seven women for "outstanding leadership in contemporary fashion taste." They were Mrs. Frederick Cushing and Mrs. Frederick Melhado of New York; Mrs. Graham Mattison, Brazilian-born wife of a Texas financier, Dame Margot Fonteyn, British ballerina; Mrs. William McCormick Blair Jr. of Chicago, recent bride of the U.S. ambassador to Denmark; the American-born Countess Quintanilla of Madrid, and Princess Liliane of Belgium, wife of ex-king Leopold III.

The best-dressed women by regional areas in the United States were Mrs. Nicholas Du Pont, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Edgar Scott and Mrs. Walter Annenberg, Philadelphia; Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith, Palm Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Christian De Guigne, San Francisco; Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale and Mrs. Ray Stark, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Mrs. Norman Chandler, Los Angeles; Mrs. Leon Mandel, Mrs. Walter Paepcke and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, Chicago; Mrs. Jefferson Coolidge and Mrs. Byron Tosi of Boston; and Mrs. Patrick Carr of Fort Worth, Tex.

80TH BIRTHDAY

GALIANO ISLAND, B.C.— Mr. H. L. Taylor celebrated his 80th birthday on Christmas Day, very quietly, with his daughter from Vancouver and their friends from Victoria.

Born in England, he went to Grahamstown College in South Africa, then trained at the Crystal Palace, in London. He worked with the John Brown Co., on the River Clyde, and put in the turbines in the Mauretania in 1904. Coming to Canada in 1908, he worked at the CPR, then for some time at the mill at Powell River. He then joined the Public Works, where he was the Inspecting Electrical Engineer stationed in Vancouver, but travelled all through the province. This position he held for 35 years, and upon retirement he and his wife moved to Galiano.

For the third year, a record number of people gathered at the spacious home of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Barner, for hot soup, mince tarts, and other good things, before going the rounds of houses to sing Carols. Great fun was had going from house to house, delighting the senior citizens with their songs and laughter. The crowd of about thirty was lucky to have the rich voice of Mr. W. D. Beach to lead them. He is well-known in circles in Vancouver for his solos, at BCE gatherings.

What started as a nice little gesture of friendship by these thoughtful Barner girls, turned into a gay outing for all, and brought the true Christmas Spirit into many Galiano homes.

FULFORD — As usual, it was a very wonderful party at the Open House in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hepburn on New Year's Eve—sixty people gathered by supper time at midnight, and after welcoming in the New Year with Auld Lang Syne, they all enjoyed a smorgasbord.

Radio Message From Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Landon, 2731 Burdick Ave., Victoria, B.C., received a Christmas and New Year message from their son-in-law, daughter and granddaughter LAC J. G. Clement, Mrs. Margaret Clement and daughter Denise from the RCAF Station in Metz, France. The message was broadcast on Dec. 30th from Radio Station CKDA in Victoria, B.C.

Donation In Memory Of Member

At the January meeting of the Robert Burns MacMicking Chapter, IODE, held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Barnes, members stood in silent tribute to the late Miss Marjorie Brown, a faithful member for many years, and later voted that a donation be made to the B.C. Cancer Society as a token of their love and affection.

Nominations for the 1962 executive were received by the committee and arrangements finalized regarding the annual meeting to be held at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel on Feb. 5.

9 IN MEMORIAM

CAMPBELL—In loving memory of Mary Ann Campbell, who passed away on Jan. 5, 1961, and Daniel Campbell, who passed away on Jan. 1st, 1964.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by George and Grace.

DICKINSON—In loving memory of my dear wife, Annie Gladys Dickinson, who passed away on Jan. 6, 1961.
Peacefully sleeping resting at last.
The world's busy trouble and strife
Have no power to disturb
In silence she suffered, in patience
She died
Her life ended, her home is silent
Her voice
Forever cherished. W. A. Dickinson and family.

McARTHUR—In loving memory of John White McArthur, who was called to rest on January 5, 1957.
Two years have passed and the scars are fine now.
Ever loved and remembered by his wife Jean, son Jim and daughter-in-law Betty.

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

Remember Max Liebman?

Liebman was the man who coined the phrase "TV spectacular" back in the days when the phrase really meant something.

It was Liebman who produced the "Admiral Broadway Review," which later became the enormously - successful "Your Show of Shows" starring Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

Now Liebman is getting back into television. He has been signed by CBS to create a one-hour comedy series of satiric and varied nature which the network hopes to air this fall.

The hope here is that Liebman will bring Caesar back to star in the series. Anyone who saw his recent appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show will have to admit that the master comic of them all is still as good as ever.

"I flunked a screen test for 'Ripcord'."

BRONCHITIS, CHEST & THROAT TROUBLES
CHILBLAINS & COLD FEET

The makers have received many spontaneous letters written by people who had endured continuous pain for years, and who—prior to using Dols' Flannel—had expended large sums of money and much time on so-called cures and remedies without relief. These and other long-standing cases have been completely relieved, many happy wearers of Dols' Flannel describe the properties of this fabric as "almost miraculous."

A FINE OLDER THREE-BEDROOM FAMILY HOME
A perfect example of one of those solidly-built, well-maintained older homes.

There are three good-sized bedrooms, each with more cupboard space than you'll ever need, a nice three-piece bathroom and a pleasant homey kitchen.

In the big dining room and in the living room and in the guest-sized entry hall you'll find inlaid oak floors that, in this present day, are only to be had in the very expensive houses.

The basement is full sized, concrete, and high. There is a hot water heating system to give that lasting warmth throughout the house.

Outside the lot is good size with a separate double garage that is fronted with a double concrete parking strip.

All in all this property is a good buy and reasonably priced at $9,950
and the owner is willing to look at your down payment—so—why don't you have a look at his home. Call S. W. Bridges at EV 3-3435 or GR 5-1970.

Two-Ways Smart

by Marian Martin

We think so highly of this bread-and-butter basic that we "pattern" it two ways—with a slim or flared skirt. Note the flattery of the stand-off collar that plunges to a daytime V.

Printed Pattern 9123: Misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 (flared) takes 4¼ yards 35-inch.

Send forty cents (40c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Please print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send your order to Marian Martin care of The Daily Colonist Pattern Dept., 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ont.

You're invited to a Fall-Winter fashion spectacular — 100 styles to sew in our new Pattern Catalogue. No matter what size, you'll find it! 35c.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Alan Truscott, a member of Great Britain's European Championship winners, is acting as our guest columnist to describe some of the outstanding deals played in that event earlier this fall.

Every bridge-player finds himself occasionally in a hopelessly optimistic contract as a result of a bidding misunderstanding. Some players allow their irritation to spill over at the sight of the dummy, while others bottle up their emotions until the end of the hand. Others again, like South on today's deal, devote their attention to making the best of a bad job.

Vul: Both

NORTH
♠ A 5 2
♥ 10 8 5 4
♦ Q 7 4 3
♣ Q 6

WEST (D)
♠ 8 4
♥ K J 9 3

♣ J 10 9 7 4 2

SOUTH
♠ K J 10 7
♥ A Q 2
♦ J 9 6 2
♣ A 5

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	1 N.T.
Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.
All pass

Opening lead: ♠ 8

When an opening bid of one of a suit is passed to the fourth player, a bid of one no-trump simply shows a balanced hand with about the values for an opening bid. When South made this bid he was rightly nervous of being weaker than he might have been. One no-trump was more accurate and descriptive than one spade would have been, and much better than a double which might have produced a response of two clubs. Unfortunately North believed his partner to hold the equivalent of an opening no-trump bid and the resulting contract was slightly too high.

West had no reason to lead a club and chose to lead a spade in the hope of giving nothing away. This was revealing to South, who was now inclined to place West with four hearts only, as he had failed to lead them and probably with four diamonds. West would probably have bid one club with four clubs and four hearts or a completely balanced hand.

The spade jack won the first trick, and a diamond to the queen took the second. Three more rounds of spades, finessing East's queen, actually squeezed West, who parted with a heart happily and a club less happily. If he throws a second red card declarer simply plays that suit, and lands the contract without trouble.

South was now in control of the situation; he made the spectacular play of the ace and then the five of clubs. West now had to concede a trick in one red suit and was thrown back to give a further trick in the other red suit. So three no-trump was made, and the North-South discussion of the bidding remained entirely friendly.

Prairie Flu Passes Peak

SASKATOON (CP) — The influenza epidemic that struck much of Saskatchewan appears to have passed its peak here. City health officer Dr. M. Dantow said Wednesday few new cases were being reported in the city. He said the epidemic affected mainly children.

NOTICE

ROSS BAY CEMETERY

The Corporation of the City of Victoria has applied to the Public Utilities Commission for authority to remove from certain graves in Blocks Three, Four, B, C, D, S, T, U, V, and W, in Ross Bay Cemetery old copings and cappings which have become cracked or broken or are otherwise in a state of disrepair. The said graves were listed in advertisements published in the "Colonist" and "Times" on Wednesday, 3rd January, a copy of which may be inspected at the office of the undersigned.

The owners of the graves affected or other persons interested in the condition of these graves are notified that under the terms of Section 10 (b) of By-law No. 3681 and subject to the approval of the Public Utilities Commission, The Corporation will remove old cracked or broken copings and cappings from the graves in question after thirty days from Friday, 5th February, 1962. After removal of such copings and cappings, the Corporation will grade the grave spaces in question, leaving each memorial intact and will sow the area in grass.

Any objection to this course of action by The Corporation must be submitted to the Secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, 620 View Street, Victoria, B.C., so as to be in his hands not later than Friday, 9th February, 1962.

M. P. HUNTER,
Secretary, Ross Bay Cemetery.

Peas Despise Heat

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Last summer's heat wave was just what the doctor ordered for tomatoes and corn but not so good for peas, which suffered terribly from the high temperatures and lack of subsoil moisture. This was particularly noticeable in gardens on sandy, or gravelly soil, where water poured on the ground disappeared in nothing flat and the lack of moisture-holding humus underground made for poor growth, scanty crops and appalling cases of mildew.

Where this has happened once, it can happen again and if you are one of those gardeners who look forward avidly to that first delicious feed of home-grown green peas this is a good time to get cracking on a specially-prepared trench in which to sow your pea seed a couple of months hence.

* * *

If you are the proud owner of a big pile of mellow old manure, this can be dug into the site of the pea rows. Or, if you happen to be a compost enthusiast with a couple of tons of the velvety brown stuff heaped in the backyard, just tuck it away underground and your peas won't suffer from drought next summer.

If you have neither manure or compost to provide the sponge-like reserve of moisture under your pea roots, your best bet would be to start manufacturing compost underground, using a technique known as trench composting and using all the kitchen wastes which accumulate through the winter.

Trench composting has been used for many years in rural areas as a means of disposing of garbage without any odor or unpleasantness. In the process a layer of humus is formed underground which retains moisture almost like blotting paper, even in the driest weather. Moisture held below the plant roots like this always seems to do so much more good than any amount of water applied to the soil surface.

* * *

To get started, simply dig a trench across the vegetable plot where you intend to sow your pea seeds in the spring. Make it about as wide as the blade of your spade and a little better than a foot deep. Shovel out the crumbs of loose soil from the bottom, piling up the excavated soil alongside the trench. Next, loosen the subsoil in the bottom of the trench with a digging fork. Make sure you have a supply of garden lime on hand and you're in business.

From here on in, all you do is dump your kitchen wastes in the trench. Cabbage leaves, carrot tops, egg shells, meat scraps--almost anything except metal and similar solid and non-rotatable material can go in, including the fluff and dust from the vacuum cleaner.

As each bucketful goes in, give it a dusting of lime sufficient to whiten the surface, then kick in enough soil from the ridge alongside to cover it up. Once you get into the routine it doesn't take any more time or effort than chucking the refuse into the ash can. In fact if you run an incinerator you'll have very little material for the garbageman except cans and bottles.

* * *

When seed-sowing time rolls around, your trench should show as a slight depression across the plot where the soil and refuse has subsided, and the seeds can go in without any further filling or levelling off. This depression is convenient for watering, as you can give your peas a thorough soaking simply by allowing the hose to trickle into the trench for an hour or so.

I suggest peas, as this crop is a complete flop in hot weather without lots of moisture-retaining material below the roots, but quite a few other vegetables will flourish in such a prepared site. The exceptions are the root crops--carrots, beets and turnips--which tend to fork and become distorted in the presence of incompletely rotted material. If you don't grow peas, try your compost trench for your tomatoes or cucumbers.

Now the Score Is Settled

PARIS—There were many great stories in 1961. Some made the newspapers—others didn't. These were our favorites of 1961, stories that have never been published before.

Major Roy McMullen, Second World War ace, who was shot down in his fighter plane near the end of the war, was stationed in Germany in 1961 as commander of a squadron. One day he was visited by Friedrich von Ralston, a Luftwaffe fighter pilot who had been appointed liaison officer to Major McMullen's outfit.

The two started exchanging war stories and von Ralston told of the day he shot down a P-38 over Stuttgart.

"I was shot down over Stuttgart," Major McMullen said, "on Nov. 12, 1944. In a P-38."

"That's the day I shot down the plane," von Ralston said excitedly. "It was number 345."

"Then you shot me down," Major McMullen replied.

"Ja," von Ralston said. "It was me."

"Why, you no-good s. o. b.," Major McMullen said, and hit von Ralston right in the teeth.

Charles Weatherspoon hated abstract art and the cult that went with it. When he heard there was going to be an abstract art exhibition, he submitted a painting done by a chimpanzee and waited to see the results.

The day of judging arrived, and a group of distinguished art critics walked down the aisles studying each painting.

Then they came to Weatherspoon's entry. They all stopped and stared and finally the silence was broken by James Corrigan, the great abstract art expert in the United States, who said, "That's the busiest abstract painted by a chimpanzee that I've ever seen."

It was a cold winter's night in Secret Falls when Patrolman Sean Morgan was cruising around in his car. Suddenly the radio barked: "Go to 107 Maple Street, a pregnant lady needs help!"

Sean turned on his siren and at 80 miles an hour sped to the address. Waiting in front of the house was the nervous husband, who explained his wife was about to have a baby, but he couldn't get his car started and he didn't know what to do.

Sean said he would take the wife in his car, but the husband said it was too late. His wife had started giving birth to the baby in the house.

* * *

The patrolman rushed inside and shouted to the husband, "I want hot water, lots of hot water." The husband dashed into the kitchen and started heating up kettles while Sean went into the bedroom, took off his jacket, and rolled up his sleeves.

In a few minutes the husband dashed in with the boiling water. Sean smiled sickly and didn't say anything.

"Here's the water," the husband said. "What are you going to do with it?"

"How the hell do I know?" Sean said, shrugging his shoulders. "I'm not a doctor."

Mrs. Franklin Wade, the wife of a gamekeeper in Kenya, had raised a lion from babyhood, which she called Eleanor. One day a friend suggested she write a book about her experiences raising the lion. Mrs. Wade was finally persuaded and worked day and night on her book. When it was finished she sent it off to her friend in London who knew a publisher.

The manuscript was returned to Mrs. Wade in two weeks with a curt note from the publisher. "This is absolutely ridiculous. Everyone knows you can't tame a lion in the jungle."

A Negro Freedom Rider went into an all-white restaurant in Mississippi and sat down at a table. The manager came over immediately and handed him a menu.

"Can I help you, sir?"

The Negro got up immediately and started to leave.

"Is there anything wrong?" the manager asked.

"No," replied the Negro, "except I was so sure you wouldn't serve me, I didn't bring any money."

Brando May Quit Films

HOLLYWOOD (CANA)—"The Ugly American" will probably be Marlon Brando's swan song as a movie actor. Having at long last completed his role of Fletcher Christian in Metro's "Mutiny on the Bounty" remake, Marlon took off this week for Tahiti where he will rest for a month—and see the beautiful Tarita Betimes of course.

Brando has talked of retirement from acting for some time. Says he never liked acting, but now: "Let's say I no longer hold acting in contempt as perhaps I once did. But I'm do longer interested in it for myself." He wants to write and direct—and he'll do both, following the filming of "The Ugly American."

* * *

Sophia Loren will be best girl at the February wedding of her sister Maria to Romano Mussolini, youngest son of the late Italian dictator. Maria, pretty, but less exotic looking than Sophia, has no acting ambitions!

David Niven and Susskind would like Jackie Gleason to play the late, rotund Oliver Hardy in his planned film of Laurel and Hardy. And he would not be averse to having Sir Alec Guinness, for Laurel, who is feeling better after his recent severe illness.

* * *

Claire Trevor was entertaining her 19-year-old son Charles and stepson Peter on the set of "Two Weeks in Another Town." Claire and husband Milton Bren leave the middle of this month for a five-month cruise in their yacht. . . . Rock Hudson will join them for a while after he tapes a show for Jack Benny. Rock has three pictures coming up, so he can't stay too long with the Brens.

* * *

Steve Boyd told me: "I was so tired working on the trapeze for my role in 'Jumbo' that I took off for Palm Springs last week and slept—solid—for 36 hours." Without benefit of jolie. . . . This is the season to be tired in Hollywood, as elsewhere. A midweek quote by Leon Ames, the "Father of the Bride": "I'm so tired after filming 24 segments I can hardly keep my eyes open. Sometimes I think I can't get another line of dialogue into my brain."

* * *

Ruth Warrick, who plays the mother in the "bride" series, talked of the satisfaction in remarrying previous husband Carl Schubert. "He knows all my faults and still wanted me," she marvelled. And having known each other so well before, they know how to avoid the irritating incidents that cause marriage trouble. "It is better the second time around," said Ruth emphatically.

* * *

I'm not at all sure that Robert Stack will renew from "The Untouchables" series at expiration of his three-year contract. Bob owns 25 per cent of the series. After a rest he might find the inducements to continue irresistible.

Store Stamp Study Ordered by Bonner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has ordered his department to "scrutinize" a new promotion scheme launched by a supermarket chain to see whether it contravenes trading stamp laws.

He described it as a routine departmental investigation.

"We have no reason to take any other action on the matter at this time," said Mr. Bonner.

"I would imagine they've taken a pretty careful look at all the legal aspects of this matter," said Mr. Bonner.

SOME GIFTS

The probe was ordered after Knap Easy Stores advertised it had a choice of more than 600 gifts, ranging from bicycles to card tables, for patrons who collected the stores' "Queen Bee stamps."

Trading stamps are illegal in B.C.

PREMIUM LEGAL

The attorney-general said premium stamps were legal—that is stamps which may be redeemed for merchandise displayed in and owned by the stores involved.

Nanaimo Is Clear Of Slump

NANAIMO — Nanaimo is out of the employment slump.

Unemployment insurance officials announced this morning that December was the most favorable period for employment in the past several years.

Logging operations went full steam and construction was up in the mid-Island area.

The future also looks bright.

The number of carpenters registered for unemployment insurance has reached the lowest level since the pulp mill construction days of 1956-57.

Major construction projects now being carried out include national defence buildings at Nanaimo and Nanoose, the Nanaimo Regional Hospital, the technical services building at the biological station and a new golf club building.

Manager Accuses Officials

CAMPBELL RIVER — In a formal letter to the provincial government the manager of a local development company has charged the chairman and three members of the village commission with "malfeasance in office."

The charge came from William Mullett, manager of Campbell River Development Corporation.

Named in Mr. Mullett's letter to the department of municipal affairs were village commission Chairman R. D. Jamieson and Commissioners Mrs. Isobel Sandberg, D. Corker and J. Law.

The case involves terms of zoning regulations as laid down first for Tyee Plaza, a shopping centre; second for a building permit granted to James Standeven; third in a zoning bylaw which had been given three readings.

Mr. Mullett contends that Tyee Plaza was required to provide about three square feet of parking space for each square foot of store space. The bylaw, however, would require 250 square feet of parking for 500 square feet of store space.

Chip-Hauling

Union Blasts CPR For Run-Takeover

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Taxpayers engaged in the local trucking business will be fighting the effects of their own tax dollars if the CPR makes inroads into chip-hauling, International Woodworkers of America officials said yesterday.

They were commenting on the fact that CPR merchandising division takes over the chip truck run between Hillcrest Lumber Company's plant at Mesachie Lake and the B.C. Forest Products Crofton pulp mill Jan. 15.

The union says because the CPR accepts federal transportation subsidies it is in effect using tax dollars with which to compete with taxpayers operating local trucking firms.

'PAID LOWER WAGE'

Union officials say CPR merchandising service truckers are paid a lower wage than those currently hauling the chips for Youbou Transport.

The CPR, they say, should pay the same wage as the one received by the truckers who are being displaced.

'LOWER CONDITIONS'

Weldon Jubenville, president of the IWA local here, said "CPR drivers are paid at a lower rate than ours and are subject to lower working conditions.

"Furthermore, being under a federal charter they are exempt from provincial laws which require time-and-a-half for over 8½ hours and double time after 11 hours.

'STIFLE ENTERPRISE'

"It is becoming increasingly obvious the CPR is going to stifle the free enterprise system which we have enjoyed for so long. We are perturbed to subsidize a company which comes along and tramples upon the work we have done to improve living standards in this province."

Mr. Jubenville said the CPR is using its Island timber holdings as a lever to win hauling contracts.

Bert Gray, speaking for Youbou Transport, said his firm will have to idle four trucks and six trailers when the CPR takes over the haul.

He said the CPR should stay out of trucking and stick to railroading.

IWA Charges:

Bus Negotiators Won't Meet Us

DUNCAN—For the third consecutive morning yesterday some 70 loggers employed by Hillcrest Lumber Company appeared for work at pick-up points from which a company bus used to take them 23 miles to their jobs.

The company discontinued the free bus service Jan. 2 after serving notice last November that such a move was pending.

International Woodworkers of America officials say although continuation of the service is not covered in the union contract, free transportation was a condition of employment.

SERVICE CONTINUED

The company says the service was launched during the rationing days of the Second World War — when personal transportation was a problem — and was continued during a labor shortage for some years.

It represented a bonus to the employees who used it, say company spokesmen.

The IWA said yesterday it had approached Forest Industrial Relations in Vancouver, an organization maintained by the lumber industry to negotiate settlement of labor disputes, but found F.I.R. "unwilling to meet union representatives."

READY TO TALK

Local IWA president Weldon Jubenville said yesterday the union is ready to negotiate the loss of the service at any time.

He said the 70 loggers who used the bus will continue to report for work at the old bus route pick-up points every morning to indicate their willingness to return to their jobs.

Car Ban Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver has been urged to reduce traffic speed limits, restrict parking and block off some streets in order to save lives, especially those of children.

The proposals are made in a report of a UBC research team after a year-long study of child-pedestrian accidents in the city.

Main proposals are to reduce speed limits to 20 from 30 miles an hour in residential areas, to ban traffic from these areas between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., to restrict parking to one side of residential streets and to repeal the by-law which gives pedestrians the right of way at all intersections.

The city bylaw giving pedestrians the right-of-way at intersections, the report says, gives children a false sense of security.

Red China Next Then Pakistan Indian Pledge

PATNA, India (UPI)—The president of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's Congress party pledged yesterday to drive the Chinese Communists from Indian soil and "liberate" all of Kashmir from Pakistan.

The threat of military action against China and Pakistan was made by Sanjiva Reddy shortly before an unruly crowd of thousands of Nehru's admirers broke through barriers and lines of police armed with bamboo poles for a closer look at their idol.

FLAG RAISING

Reddy spoke at the traditional flag raising ceremony before formal opening of the party's conference. He delivered the major political address although Nehru spoke in support of the party's election manifesto calling for national integration.

'PATIENCE TRIED'

Reddy said Communist China's new penetrations in the Ladakh area north of Kashmir has tried India's patience. The Chinese are mistaken if they believe India will allow this indefinitely, he said.

CAN'T ACCEPT IT

Referring to Pakistan, Reddy said India cannot accept the present ceasefire line in Kashmir as a permanent solution to the dispute with Pakistan which also claims Kashmir. He said the entire country supports the government action to "liberate" parts of Kashmir now under Pakistani control.

POLICY HARDENS

Speeches by the Congress president usually reflect official Indian government policy. Reddy's rejection of the ceasefire line indicated a hardening of government policy in the long-smoldering dispute.

LIBERATION HOPE

"We hope that within a short time the government will take steps to liberate that part of Kashmir (occupied by Pakistan)," Reddy said. "It is, however, to be left to the government to choose the proper time for this purpose."

CLAIM SUPPORTED

Reddy said India fully supports Indonesia's claim to West Irian (Dutch New Guinea) and expressed confidence "the Indonesians will be able to wipe out the last vestiges of colonialism from their soil within the next few months."

AGGRESSION DENIED

He denied India was guilty of aggression in taking Goa and said if Portugal walked out of the United Nations the organization "would not be power if the colonialists left it."

Death Claims Fourth Refugee From Tristan

REDHILL, England (Reuters)—Alfred Green, 73, the oldest male among the 275 refugees from volcano-ravaged Tristan da Cunha Island, died Thursday of pneumonia. The group has been hard hit by chest infections of various kinds since its arrival in England in November and Green was the fourth to die.

Twelve Charged in Scandal

Meat 'Unfit for Humans' Eaten by Ontario Families

TORONTO (CP) — An estimated 375 to 500 tons of meat unfit for human consumption has been served in homes in southern Ontario since last August, RCMP said Thursday.

The estimate came as police arrested 12 persons in the climax to investigations which began in August. All were charged with offences under the Food and Drug Act.

STAMP OF APPROVAL

Police described the operation as that of a ring which sold meat from fallen or dead animals to packers and duped them into believing it was of good quality by marking the containers with the stamp of approval of the Brant County health department.

VETERINARIAN HELD

One of the 12 men arrested was Ormond C. Raymond, a veterinarian with the Brant County health department and a director of food control and sanitation with the county health unit.

Insp. Kenneth Fraser, head of the RCMP Criminal Investigation Branch here, said the meat was sold in good faith by the retail outlets because they had no way of knowing it was not of good quality.

THROUGH CHAIN STORES

He said much of the tainted meat found its way to the public tables through "some of the larger supermarkets and groceteria chain stores."

RCMP Supt. F. B. Woods-Johnson said Thursday night investigations indicate the large stores, which handle federally-inspected meat, did not receive any of the unfit supplies.

STATEMENT ISSUED

In Toronto, spokesmen for the larger supermarkets and groceteria chains issued immediate statements saying they bought all their meat from packing-houses under federal government supervision.

BEGAN IN AUGUST

Investigations began in August when firms specializing in the byproducts of dead cattle told police they had difficulty buying carcasses.

Police said profits on the operation could run to about $80,000 a month. The most ever paid for a dead animal was $5, and in some cases police said farmers were glad to give the animal away to save disposal costs or trouble.

DEAD FOR DAYS

Some of the animals had been dead for days, lying bloated where they fell in the fields.

One case cited was that of a maggot-infested cow on which there was 100 pounds of fairly good-looking meat. The undercover RCMP officers bought this and learned later that some of the carcass was sold to a mink farmer who returned it because the mink would not eat it.

Jet Crashes In Okanagan

VANCOUVER (CP)—An F-89 Scorpion jet fighter with two men aboard crashed Thursday night in a remote and mountainous area in southeastern British Columbia.

The crash was confirmed by officials of the Air National Guard at Geiger Field in Spokane, Wash., where the aircraft was based.

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination centre here said the 25th Air Defence Command reported to F-89 aircraft were carrying out practice missions in the area when one of them reported seeing a mid-air explosion.

The aircraft crew said radio and radar contact with the other F-89 was lost after the explosion.

The RCAF said a Trans Canada Airlines Vanguard jet passenger aircraft reported sighting a fire 60 miles east of Penticton.

The air-sea rescue officials said the Vanguard circled the fire for several minutes before leaving the area.

The RCAF sent a CF 100 jet to the crash area from Comox.

Patch Or Scrap?

Salvaged Ship's Fate Still in the Balance

By IAN STREET

All the efforts of two Victoria tugs, which pulled the Ss. Ginfkos off the rocks at Ucluelet and safely delivered to Esquimalt, may not be enough to save the Greek freighter.

A jagged tear 84 feet long in the portside bottom plates of the vessel, disclosed in a preliminary damage survey, will be surveyed fully in drydock today.

The findings will decide whether the 7,000-ton ship, built in Canada in 1943 and originally named Algonquin Park, is to be repaired or patched up and sold for scrap.

PLATES PUNCTURED

Jack Daley, chief diver for Island Tug and Barge Ltd., made the first underwater survey shortly after the ITB tow arrived yesterday reported the main gash in plates was 17 feet long and wide enough to take his head and shoulders.

Punctured and buckled plates covered an area amidships 84 feet long and 20 feet wide, Mr. Daley reported.

TUGS PRAISED

Meanwhile, ITB officials here said the salvage operation carried out by the tugs Island Challenger and Sudbury rated highest on the long list of successful company operations.

Big Rip Revealed

Thousands of gallons of water gushed out of sieve-like bottom plates of crippled Greek freighter Ss. Ginfkos last night as she lay on blocks in Esquimalt drydock after harrowing rescue bid which saw her plucked from the jaws of death on a reef 100 miles northwest of Victoria. Still in the balance this morning was the vessel's ultimate fate . . . cost of repairing jagged 84-foot tear in ship's crumpled hull may send her to the breakers for scrap. — (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

UBC 'Angel' Gives Home To President

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Norman MacKenzie and all the retiring presidents of the University of British Columbia who come after him will have a $30,000 home for their own use.

It was learned Thursday that millionaire philanthropist Dr. Leon Koerner will foot the bill for the new home whose first resident will be Dr. MacKenzie who is retiring next summer.

Terror in City

Oran Battle Joined By Tribesmen

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—French Zouave troops fought a battle in the heart of Oran yesterday with an Algerian Moslem rebel commando troop which penetrated the centre of the city and sprayed a cafe with machine-gun fire.

Last night the death toll for the first four days of the new year had climbed to at least 72 with 150 persons wounded. Five persons were reported killed in the Oran fighting yesterday and four others elsewhere in Algeria.

French authorities had imposed a strict curfew in Oran, but when it was lifted yesterday morning Europeans opposed to independence for Algeria poured out of their houses and resumed their kill-and-run tactics against Algerian Moslems.

REBELS RETALIATE

In the afternoon the rebels retaliated by sending commandos into the Place Marshal Foch in the centre of Oran where they sprayed a cafe with machine-gun fire as hundreds of European youths demonstrated in the square. A soldier and a policeman fell dead.

FIRE RETURNED

The Zouaves, fierce tribesmen from the Djurdjura Mountains of Algeria, returned the fire with sub-machine guns.

The Zouaves who have been fighting for France in Algeria since 1831 were joined by police as the rebels raced into nearby buildings in the confusion that filled the square. They shot it out with the rebels for an hour.

Crew in Grave Danger On Drifting B.C. Tug

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A 200-ton tugboat with 12 men aboard was drifting out of control late Thursday night in a roaring gale near the rocky west shore of Dundas Island, 30 miles northwest of here.

Towing company officials here said the men were in "extreme danger."

The tug, the Commodore, of Straits Towing Ltd., lost her 2,000-ton log barge tow in 100-mile-an-hour winds Thursday afternoon and then lost her steering as she searched for the tow.

The department of transport lighthouse tender Alexander MacKenzie was standing by but was unable to get a line on the stricken tug.

A sister tug, the Comet, was hauling a barge on the opposite side of Dundas Island and a tug from Prince Rupert was speeding to relieve the Comet of her tow so that the Comet could help the Commodore.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Balsam, from Ketchikan, Alaska, and the tug N. R. Iand from Kitimat, 75 miles southwest of here, also were steaming to the aid of the rudderless tug.

Cheque Bounced

Bank Sued For Libel

LONDON (AP) — Liquor dealer James Black is suing his bank for libel because he claims it bounced a cheque of his when he had money in his account to meet it.

The Winnipeg-born liquor dealer came to London 25 years ago and now is in his 70s. He claims a cheque he wrote for £93 ($270) was wrongly dishonored by the Westminster Bank and that this action libelled him.

He is also suing the bank for breach of contract by the alleged refusal of the cheque.

The case, believed to be unique in British legal history, will be heard by a judge and jury in London after Easter.

Hawks Gaining Ground But One Point at Time

"Tie" is getting to be a nasty word around the dressing room of the Chicago Black Hawks, and with good reason.

The Hawks have a seven-game unbeaten streak going in the National Hockey League, but there are only two victories in that string. The other five are ties, the latest a 1-1 draw with the Red Wings last night in Detroit.

Of course, tying is much better than losing and the Hawks have been gaining ground. They are only two points behind third-place New York, and four points ahead of the Wings.

Last night's score: Chicago 1 at Detroit 1.

Next games: Saturday—New York at Montreal; Chicago at Toronto; Detroit at Boston.

But coach Rudy Pilous and his Hawks can't help but think of where they'd be if those five ties (1-1 and 2-2 with Detroit, 3-3 and 0-0 with Toronto and 4-4 with Montreal) had been victories.

GOOD WISHING

If that seven-game streak had produced all victories, the Hawks would be sitting in third place, only two points behind second-place Toronto and just four behind the league-leading Canadiens. They'd have a three-point edge on the Rangers, and the Wings would be a distant 11 points behind.

It makes good wishing, but that's all.

If Chicago's Moose Vasko hadn't been in the wrong place at the right time last night, the Hawks would have had one less tie and one more victory.

LOOKED ROSY

Bronco Horvath had taken a pass from Stan Mikita at 3.14 of the second period and beaten Terry Sawchuk for a 1-0 lead. The Hawks were pressing, and Glenn Hall was playing unbeatable goal for them. Things looked rosy until 11.54.

Then Alex Delvecchio got the puck in the corner, and passed it in front of the Chicago net. The puck hit Vasko's leg, and caromed off it into the net before the disbelieving Hall could twitch a muscle.

ONE SHORT

Delvecchio's goal was his 13th of the season, and left him one short of becoming the 17th active NHL player to score 300 goals.

Hall, who has given up only two goals in the last three games, made 30 saves, 13 of them in the second period. Sawchuk made only 17 but was good when he had to be, holding off the Hawks when they had a two-man advantage for slightly more than a minute in the second period.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

Pogo bless his cotton-pickin' little heart, sent the most welcome gift of all—a day off, which went as follows:

"It is probably time to wish you season's greetings again, whether you need them or not. There is something relentless in the grin of the season and if you feel like having a perfectly miserable day, feel free. I am the last man to lead a horse of your color to water and absolutely the last to make him drink the stuff.

"The bowl-that-cheers used to be, for me at least, the Rose Bowl, but those days are gone. Now there are so many Bowls throughout the country that a man gets drunk just swiveling the TV. It is a bewildering season.

"There was a time when a crafty father could con the family into all sorts of wild wagers at the year's end. The children were too small to understand the game or the odds, and if a loss was incurred they couldn't tell a dime from a half-dollar. Unless, of course, the family adviser was at hand.

"This last, the mother, was always a risky customer, it must be admitted. She was a great hunch player, betting, for example, ridiculous things such as a weak Washington team beating a champion aggregation from Minnesota.

I Don't Know, Who's Playing?

"Well, it was to laugh.

"I should have known better than to bet her anything after one experience. There was a curious year in which the Yankees and the Pirates, of all people, were to face each other in the series. I acquired several tickets in some forgotten but probably devious manner and asked the old girl if she would like to see the first home game.

"'Well, I don't know if I have time,' she replied. 'Who's playing?'

"When I had recovered my poise it seemed to me that here was a chick ripe for plucking, and I suggested a mild wager. Naturally her knowledge of the possibilities was about as firm as her grasp of the league standings. I suppressed laughter and bet heavily, giving handsome odds, when she picked the Pirates. I'll grant that she didn't gloat afterwards; as a matter of fact, she had sort of forgotten which team was the apple of her eye.

"This year I am making no family bets about anything—that's the resolution of course—unless the odds are attractive. Last February 23, the day after Honest George was celebrated, a clear-eyed youth of 13 slumped into a chair in the studio and silently handed me a list entitled, 'Pre-Spring Predictions—2-23-61.' After I read it I eyed him carefully to see whether he had found my Scotch bottle.

American League Looked Sane

"He said, 'Go ahead and laugh if you want to.'

"The American League line-up seemed sane. It had the Yankees first, Baltimore second, Chicago third, Minnesota fourth, then Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Los Angeles, Kansas City and Washington. It was the National League selections that raised my eyebrows. He had picked as follows: 1. Cincinnati (spelled right, too!); 2. Milwaukee; 3. San Francisco; 4. L.A.; 5. Pittsburgh; 6. St. Louis; 7. Chicago; 8. Philadelphia.

"Naturally, I gave odds.

"He returned about April and said he had a few corrections to make. He said it looked as though Baltimore would have to fight off Detroit. He picked Detroit for third and possibly second. I offered more money. He then said in the National League he was dropping Milwaukee to third, putting L.A. second and switching San Francisco to fourth.

"Pittsburgh and St. Louis were going to fight over fifth and sixth, Chicago stayed seventh and the Phillies were solid for eighth. When I discreetly inquired if that meant Cincinnati remained at the top, he explained quietly, 'Natch.'

"I upped the odds. Through the summer I made sure the lad mowed a few lawns so he'd have something to pay off with.

* * *

With Downcast Eyes

"After I'd settled my account in October (he having picked the Yankees in six or sooner, I having given Cincinnati a chance), he drew a clipping from his pocket. It was glued to the 'Pre-Spring Predictions' and was offered with downcast eyes. It was an AP clip from Cincinnati and it said:

"'Somewhere back in the hills or underbrush there may be a man, woman or child who publicly, before the season opened, picked the Reds to win the 1961 pennant. If there be such a person, he or she should come forth and be honored.'

"'Well,' I said, 'why didn't you come forth?'

"'I wasn't in any hills or underbrush,' he replied, 'and betting with you isn't as public a game as you'd think.'

"So I just want to make this as public as possible. As soon as Peter Kelly's thoughts jell I will wire you about the 1962 season so we can clean up. It should be added that in the Patter on McNeeley fight he disdained to pick a winner, but condescended to pick the fourth round. He won a dime. 'How old does a kid have to be before his father can take him to a horse track in New York?'

"With all good wishes for '62.

"Walt Kelly."

Mrs. Flora Martin's Rink Wins Lower Island Title

Rinks skipped by Gordie Moore and Ken Sturrock reached the semi-finals of "B" section in the Consols curling playdowns at the Victoria Curling Club last night and favored Flora Martin won the right to represent the VCC in the Island ladies' playdowns, scheduled for Nanaimo Jan. 13 and 14.

Sturrock had trouble with the surprising quartet skipped by Bernie Beech before coming out on top, 12-8, while Moore pulled away on the late ends to defeat Jim Dickson in the other men's playoff game on the early draw.

Beech who had Carlos Bellagente, Irwin Shea and Al Maheux as his supporting cast, trailed by only 9-8 after nine ends but Sturrock counted two on the 10th for a three-rock lead. The 11th end was blanked but a couple of misses enabled Beech to retain his chance on the home end. However, Sturrock made two take-outs to stay each time and stole a point when Beech couldn't negotiate his last rock.

Almost perfect curling by Moore, three double takeouts and a raise takeout of shot rock by vice-skip Allan Paul proved too much for the Dickson rink in the other game.

FINE DOUBLE

Neither rink displayed the form of earlier games and Moore had a 6-4 lead starting the 10th end. He drew for one after Dickson had made a fine double on two back ring biters and took a three-rock lead into the 11th. A couple of misses gave Moore two rocks in the four-foot on the 11th with plenty of protection and he started home five rocks to the good.

Moore, who had Ron Jacob and Kirby Moysey on the front end, was playing Sturrock on a late draw for the right to play Steve Hayhurst in the "B" section final.

That game is scheduled tonight at 6.30 with the winner getting a chance at Tony Gutoski, already out in "A" event. Gutoski will have to be beaten twice to miss playing in the men's Island final, at Nanaimo on Jan. 20 and 21.

Mrs. Martin completed the double round robin between the champions from the Victoria Ladies' Curling Club and the Sunday Commercial League representatives with a perfect 4-0 record.

In last night's first game, she was an easy winner over Bernice Soper of the Sunday League, who failed to win a game. That assured Mrs. Martin of nothing worse than a tie for her final game against Renee Robbins of the VLCC but Mrs. Robbins couldn't cope with the VCC skip, who had a four-rock lead heading home and made it enough for a 10-7 victory.

Edythe Pick, as vice-skip, Helen Edwards as second and Marion Smith as lead complete Mrs. Martin's rink.

First Round Hard to Beat

Playing his first game of golf in 1962, Dr. George Bigelow holed out a full drive at the seventh hole at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday.

His ball hit the green and took one bounce before dropping into the hole. The seventh at Oak Bay is 205 yards long, and with the prevailing wind on Tuesday it took a full shot to reach the green.

It was the ninth time Dr. Bigelow has holed out in one.

Watson On Curling

Draw Right Answer When Finish Nears

With the accent on youth in curling today there is a greater tendency to ignore the old-fashioned draw in favor of hitting when a choice presents itself. Many curlers too easily fall into the delusion that a take-out is an offensive action aimed at the opponents' vital parts and the harder they hit and the louder they sound, the more they convince themselves they are right.

On the contrary, to draw into scoring position is to take the offence. Every rock in the rings is a potential point. Don't think your opponent doesn't realize it. Even a stone hanging onto the 12-foot circle by its fingernails is a worry to the opposition and sometimes it can become a cancer in the mind of a defending skip who is a few meagre points ahead with end looming.

Doesn't it make sense then that if such a rock agitates your ulcer it will also give your opponent high blood pressure if he is faced with the same situation?

Too many skips today go on the defensive too soon. They look at the score, the end being played and begin the countdown. To state it bluntly these curling captains start subtracting instead of adding. They seem only concerned with protecting their lead instead of increasing it. The draw is the answer. Your average player is more consistent with quiet weight, too. Why build up his tension flash to rival your own when an opposing rock is biting the rings either front or back? Simmer down and draw!

Today's diagram illustrates a sad story that has been enacted in every curling club in Canada perhaps several times a week, but in this case the quarter-finals of a provincial championship had been reached and the stakes were high.

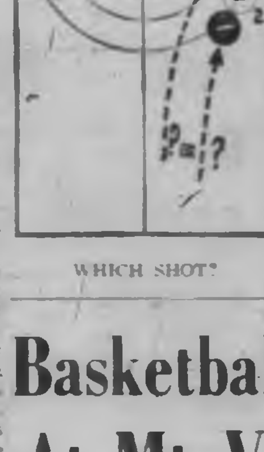

Our hero was three up playing the tenth without last rock. Using the blacks he lay shot at 10 o'clock on the back ring. His adversary had a biter up front (see diagram) when our boy took a look at things before he played his final stone.

After a few seconds sizing up the situation he gave his vice-skip ice for a take-out on No. 2 and walked down to the back to play his shot. Unfortunately he missed.

The opposing skip, now with a new lease on life, drew quietly to No. 1 and nudged it far enough back to count two points. It hardly matters the game went 13 ends and our friend shook hands as the loser.

The story would have had a happier ending if he had drawn for second shot with his last rock instead of trying the take-out. In that case a single point was the most that could have been scored against him. True—hindsight is always better than foresight for plate glass skips like the writer; but the draw is still a mighty offensive weapon. Use it more often to cure the count-down curse!

WHICH SHOT?

Can't Wait For Bobby

"When Bobby Hull starts moving, so will Chicago Black Hawks. As Hull goes, so go the Hawks."

But there's one Black Hawk who isn't standing around waiting for Chicago's Golden Boy to get moving. Skinny Stan Mikita is playing like Hull used to, and challenging for the National Hockey League scoring championship.

With the season just over the halfway mark, Mikita has 11 goals and 28 assists for 39 points, only two fewer than Detroit's great Gordie Howe and 11 off the pace being set by Andy Bathgate of New York.

Playing second fiddle to Hull is an old story to Mikita. Both were juniors with St. Catharines Teepees, and Hull drew all the raves.

But Mikita made the jump to the NHL at the age of 19 without benefit of a day in the minor leagues. That first season he had eight goals, 18 assists, and a whopping 119 minutes in the penalty box.

CUTS PENALTIES

He cut the penalty time to 100 minutes last year and has 50 this season. Tommy Ivan, Chicago general manager, is convinced that if Mikita could stay out of the penalty box he'd win the scoring championship.

Mikita is playing as though he believes it, and this time the positions in his annual competition with Hull are reversed.

Mikita is third, Hull 15th, in league scoring.

Seattle Solves Flyers at Last

It took five tries to do it, but Seattle Totems finally beat Edmonton Flyers last night in the northern division of the Western Hockey League, winning 6-4 before 2,640 fans at Edmonton.

In four previous games with Flyers, the Totems had managed only one point from a tie. Last night they blew a 2-0 lead, went into the third period tied 3-3, and rapped in three goals before Ed Joyal scored for Flyers with 49 seconds left.

Gerry Leonard, Bill MacFarland, Guyle Fielder, Don Ward, Ivan Prediger and Ron Hutchison scored for Totems. Hutchison's goal came with the Edmonton net empty as Flyers used an extra forward in the last two minutes with the score 5-3.

MISSED LUNDE

Doug Messier, moved up from defence to right wing, Forbes Kennedy, Roger Dejordy and Joyal scored for the Flyers, who sorely missed centre Len Lunde, now with the parent Detroit Red Wings.

In Los Angeles, Bruce Carmichael scored his 11th goal of the season at 18.34 of the final period to give the Blades a 5-4 victory over San Francisco Seals.

Seals, who held the lead three times, had come from behind to tie the score at 4-4 on Harry Pidhirny's goal at the 13.10 mark of the third period.

League scoring leader Gerry Goyer didn't get a point, but as he almost always does when Goyer slows down, Willie O'Ree was there to take up the slack.

O'Ree had two goals and Jim Powers and Ed Panagabko got the others. Pidhirny led the Seals with two and Al Nicholson and Buddy Boone had one each.

Blades and Seals have now played each other eight times and won four each.

Half Season at Least?

U.S. Army May Give Up Stars

WASHINGTON (AP)—Major league baseball players called to active United States military service last fall probably will not make spring training, but they may see action before the 1962 season is half over.

There has been no definite decision, but it appears possible that such players as Tony Kubek of New York Yankees and Ron Hansen of Baltimore Orioles, both shortstops, may be cavorting around the infield before July 4.

President Kennedy announced Wednesday that two new regular army divisions will be formed this year. The announcement said the two national guard divisions and assorted guard and reserve units formed in September and October "will be released this year as the international situation and the readiness status of the two new devisions permit."

Defence department officials indicated they hope to release the units by June 30.

Professional football players, many of whom managed to finish the 1961 season by obtaining weekend passes, will be demobilized in plenty of time for the 1962 season if the June 30 date is achieved.

Besides Kubek and Hansen, major leaguers called to active duty last fall included Steve Barber and Barry Shetrone of Baltimore, Bob Johnson of Washington Senators, Jim Grant, Wynn Hawkins and Walter Bond of Cleveland Indians, Dick McAuliffe of Detroit Tigers, George Thomas of Los Angeles Angels, Reuben Wamaro and Jim Coker of Philadelphia Phillies, Dick Bertell of Chicago Cubs and John Orsino of San Francisco Giants.

Basketball on Wheels At Mt. View School

Opening game of the Northwest Wheelchair Basketball Conference schedule will be held at Mount View High School gym Saturday night at 8.30. Vancouver Powerglides play Victoria's Independent Foresters Rockets.

Other teams in the four-team league are Seattle Flyers and Tacoma Wheelers.

Second game of the weekend series will be held at HMCS Naden gym Sunday afternoon at 2 with the same opponents in action.

Union Raps CPR For Taking Run

'Stick to Railroad'

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Taxpayers engaged in the local trucking business will be fighting the effects of their own tax dollars if the CPR makes inroads into chip-hauling, International Woodworkers of America officials said yesterday.

They were commenting on the fact that CPR merchandising division takes over the chip truck run between Hillcrest Lumber Company's plant at Mesachie Lake and the B.C. Forest Products Crofton pulp mill Jan. 15.

The union says because the CPR accepts federal transportation subsidies it is in effect using tax dollars with which to compete with taxpayers operating local trucking firms.

'PAID LOWER WAGE'

Union officials say CPR merchandising service truckers are paid a lower wage than those currently hauling the chips for Youbou Transport.

The CPR, they say, should pay the same wage as the one received by the truckers who are being displaced.

'LOWER CONDITIONS'

Weldon Jubenville, president of the IWA local here, said "CPR drivers are paid at a lower rate than ours and are subject to lower working conditions —

"Furthermore, being under a federal charter they are exempt from provincial laws which require time-and-a-half for over 8½ hours and double time after 11 hours.

'STIFLE ENTERPRISE'

"It is becoming increasingly obvious the CPR is going to stifle the free enterprise system which we have enjoyed for so long. We are perturbed to subsidize a company which comes along and tramples upon the work we have done to improve living standards in this province."

Mr. Jubenville said the CPR is using its Island timber holdings as a lever to win hauling contracts.

Bert Gray, speaking for Youbou Transport, said his firm will have to idle four trucks and six trailers when the CPR takes over the haul.

He said the CPR should stay out of trucking and stick to railroading.

Break-In Spree Solved?

NANAIMO—Police may have solved a rash of break-ins in the Nanaimo area in the latter part of December.

This was announced as RCMP laid 28 charges of breaking and entering and theft against five juveniles and one adult.

One juvenile was transferred to adult court.

At Art Gallery

Winter Classes In Art Begin

Winter season of art classes for children and adults begin Jan. 16 and 22, the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria has announced.

Eight classes have been arranged for children ranging in age from 4 to 15.

Children from 4 to 6 will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m., Saturdays at 9 a.m.; children from 7 to 9, Tuesdays from 3.45 to 5 p.m.; children from 6 to 8, Wednesdays from 3.45 to 5 p.m.; children from 10 to 13, Thursdays from 3.45 to 5 p.m., and those from 12 to 15, Fridays from 3.45 to 5 p.m.

Teachers will be Mrs. C. McLauchlan, Mrs. W. L. McLauchlan, Mrs. W. L. Fahey, Mrs. Rita Morris, Mrs. C. P. V. Forrest and Mrs. F. Slaney.

For adults, Vancouver painter Arnold Burrell will give two 10-week courses in landscape and still life in oils, one Monday afternoons and the other Monday evenings. Victoria artist Stephen Lowe will give a course on Chinese painting Thursday evenings, and Victoria portrait artist Gary Ness will offer two courses on figure painting, portraiture, anatomy and composition, Wednesday mornings and Wednesday evenings.

Depot to Hold Rocket Shoot

Recruits of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry regimental depot will carry out firing exercises with 3.5-inch anti-tank rocket launchers Saturday, starting at 8.30 a.m. at the Mary Hill range.

New High-Rise

Tenants May Rent

Vancouver developer David Blake told the Colonist last night he has decided to build a rental-type high-rise apartment in Victoria rather than a tenant-owned building as originally planned.

He was sold 3¼ acres of land in the Rockland district between Terrace and Belmont by the city for $35,000 on terms that he will build a 12-storey high-rise apartment there.

Difficulties experienced by developers in selling tenant-owned apartments in Vancouver caused him to change his mind, he said.

Internal designs for the proposed $1,500,000 structure will have to be redrawn although it is understood the changes will not be noticeable from the outside of the building.

"We are starting again on designs. I have no idea when the plans will be finished or when construction will start."

"There is no sense in rushing the thing and later finding something wrong with the design," he added.

Firm's Salvage Fee Anybody's Guess

It's anybody's guess how much Island Tug and Barge will receive in salvage fees for bringing the crippled Ss. Glafkos safely to port.

The job was taken on a "no cure, no pay" basis under a Lloyd's open form contract. If the ship was lost, ITB would receive no pay whatever.

Success, however, means the amount will be fixed by arbitration in London.

Bus Negotiators Won't Meet Us Says Union Man

DUNCAN—For the third consecutive morning yesterday some 70 loggers employed by Hillcrest Lumber Company appeared for work at pick-up points from which a company bus used to take them 23 miles to their jobs.

The company discontinued the free bus service Jan. 2 after serving notice last November that such a move was pending.

International Woodworkers of America officials say although continuation of the service is not covered in the union contract, free transportation was a condition of employment.

SERVICE CONTINUED

The company says the service was launched during the rationing days of the Second World War — when personal transportation was a problem — and was continued during a labor shortage for some years.

It represented a bonus to the employees who used it, say company spokesmen.

The IWA said yesterday it had approached Forest Industrial Relations in Vancouver, an organization maintained by the lumber industry to negotiate settlement of labor disputes, but found F.I.R. "unwilling to meet union representatives."

READY TO TALK

Local IWA president Weldon Jubenville said yesterday the union is ready to negotiate the loss of the service at any time.

He said the 70 loggers who used the bus will continue to report for work at the old bus route pick-up points every morning to indicate their willingness to return to their jobs.

Bennett To Talk Formula

Premier Bennett promised yesterday he would have quite a bit to say about the province's new assessment formula when he brings down his 1962 provincial budget Feb. 9.

"Of all the technical changes we have brought in this has won the widest acclaim from the experts for its boldness and commonsense," said the premier yesterday.

Municipalities have let out howls of anguish that the new B.C. assessment formula can only lead to higher taxes for homeowners.

But, says Premier Bennett, if taxes do go up don't blame the provincial government. There is no reason why municipal councils cannot cut their mill rates for general purposes to make up for any increases in assessments.

The change in formula, which was recommended by the B.C. Association of Assessors, sets assessment at 50 per cent of the market value of the property today.

Property Owners Benefit

Hundreds of city property owners are taking advantage of the four per cent discount allowed on city taxes paid in advance.

Up to 5 p.m. yesterday some $198,000 in advance taxes had been paid and the total discount amounted to several thousand dollars.

For the first two days of 1962, a total of $162,500 was paid.

Prepayments yesterday were $113,400, a substantial jump over the $84,666 paid Wednesday.

The four per cent discount is calculated for the period from payment of taxes until July 31.

Credit for the prepayment and discount is shown on tax notices when they are sent out about June.

Curiosity Rather Than Scorn

Greater Victoria municipal officials yesterday reported more curiosity than complaints over increased home assessments.

"We have had quite a few inquiries, but it is early yet," said Colin Wyatt, assistant Oak Bay assessor.

"Once they know it is a change in the Equalization of Assessment Act they are quite reasonable—they don't like it but they know it cannot be helped."

Can't Find That Word — But Chief Officer Can

Greek Skipper Keeps Silent

* * *

By IAN STREET

* * *

CAPT. FOTIOS PETRATOS
. . . takes to heels

The Greek captain looked warily up and down the wall of Esquimalt graving dock.

No reporters or photographers were in sight.

Captain Fotios Petratos descended the rickety ladder from the deck of Ss. Glafkos tied alongside, and paced slowly along the dock, intently studying the rusty hull plates.

STOPPED HIM

Sound of running footsteps and shouts of "captain, captain," stopped him in his tracks.

The captain turned, spotted a couple of news photographers coming at the dead run, and took to his heels.

A row of grinning shipyard workers witnessed the "interview" that followed.

SHEEPISH GRIN

It went like this:

"Captain, are you glad to be safely back in port?"

The Greek skipper stopped halfway up the ladder and grinned sheepishly. He shrugged and turned down the corners of his mouth.

"Did you think you'd lost your ship?" Nothing.

"Captain, have you anything to say about the men who saved your ship?" Nothing.

"May we come aboard and talk?" An emphatic wave of the hand and the captain was gone.

This was the only direct encounter between skipper and press in more than two hours of hide-and-seek. The ship was declared off-limits to reporters as soon as it arrived and those aboard played a waiting game with some success.

'WITHOUT HOPE'

The press group split up and only two were left at the end.

As they were leaving, the chief officer, Dimitri Dimitriou, came ashore.

His eyes filled with tears as he told of the three-day ordeal.

"We were people without hope," he said. "Any time, we could have gone to death. We have to thank God and the Canadian air force and salvage people who save us."

FOLLOW THAT TRAIN: Some of the best stories about Premier Bennett never make print.

Take, for example, the time he was travelling to Ottawa for a federal-provincial conference and decided to take a late night constitutional when his train pulled into a lonely little whistle stop.

The premier, and his then executive assistant, Ronald Worley, got off the train and looked about.

"We'll walk up to that light and back," said Premier Bennett.

"Gosh, we'll never make that," replied Mr. Worley.

"Of course we will," answered the premier, striding off.

They'd hardly reached the light when the train pulled out.

"Now what'll we do," said the anguished Mr. Worley.

"Grab that cab," said the premier.

"Catch that train," the driver was ordered.

"That won't stop again for 60 miles," observed the driver.

"Well, get us there first," shouted the premier.

The driver obeyed, stepped on the gas, and sped away at breakneck speed.

"Say, driver," said Mr. Worley, "take it easy. You know you've got the premier of British Columbia in here."

"Sure," said the driver, "And I'm King Farouk."

There was nothing Premier Bennett and Mr. Worley could do but hang on until the 60-mile trip was over.

They paid a phenomenal fare and climbed aboard the CPR train.

No sooner had they reached their carriage than the big night porter strolled along.

"Holy mackerel, gentlemen," said the porter. "I' sure thought you'd have been in bed hours ago."

STARTING THEM YOUNG: Cutest story of the New Year's Day rounds this year was that of the father who turned up at Government House—with his nine-month-old son!

He went downstairs where members of the Solarium Junior League were checking hats and coats and checked his baby.

Then up the stairs he went, shook hands with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, had a couple of drinks, then went back to pick up his son and walk off down the driveway.

UNKNOWN QUANTITY: What's the latest on the Pacific Northern Railway? We asked hard-pressed Transport Minister Earle Westwood yesterday.

The minister shook his head slowly.

"Well now, that's the $64 question," he said as he slipped inside the cabinet door.

THE THINGS WE HEAR: The provincial government will probably delay the official opening of the new law courts building so that the honor of officiating at the ceremony may go to the Princess Royal, due to visit here this summer. Works Minister W. N. Chant said yesterday the staff could be in the building for months before the official ceremony was held . . . Former city mayor Percy Scurrah, who is now enjoying life as just another private citizen," was presented with a treasured item at yesterday's meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club. It was the white hard hat he wore when he sawed into that downtown power pole last week. The hat was inscribed: "Faller Extraordinary."

SHIFTY BUSINESS: Yesterday morning's headline "Skillings Chosen to Move Address" caught the eye of Roger, the 11-year-old son of Victoria Social Credit MLA Waldo Skillings.

Roger didn't wait to read the story that his father had the honor to move the address in reply to the Throne Speech when the legislature meets later this month.

He just blurted out: "But where do we have to move to, Dad?"

Nanaimo Is Clear Of Slump

NANAIMO — Nanaimo is out of the employment slump.

Unemployment insurance officials announced this morning that December was the most favorable period for employment in the past several years.

Logging operations went full steam and construction was up in the mid-Island area.

The future also looks bright.

The number of carpenters registered for unemployment insurance has reached the lowest level since the pulp mill construction days of 1956-57.

Major construction projects now being carried out include national defence buildings at Nanaimo and Nanoose, the Nanaimo Regional Hospital, the technical services building at the biological station and a new golf-club building.

Start Link Here For Second Road —Island Member

COURTENAY — If British Columbia and the federal government embark on a second Trans-Canada Highway it should travel the length of Vancouver Island and not start at Prince Rupert, Comox Social Credit MLA Dan Campbell said yesterday.

He was commenting on Premier Bennett's statement Wednesday in which he referred to a second Trans-Canada road link traversing British Columbia between Prince Rupert and Jasper.

Mr. Campbell said the route should start at Victoria and follow the existing Trans-Canada to Nanaimo and then proceed northward to Port Hardy.

"The northern half of the Island was ignored in the first highway agreement and I would urge all municipalities and organizations on the Island take up the fight to see that it is not ignored in the second agreement.

"Perhaps a start would be to redesignate Highway 19 (the Island Highway) as Highway 16 (number of the Prince Rupert-Jasper route)," Mr. Campbell said.

"This proposal would accelerate the road construction in the northern half of the Island and would tie in with the projected ferry from Port Hardy to Prince Rupert making an excellent circular tour.

"With major provincial contract already underway in the northern half, federal co-operation would ensure even greater development of Vancouver Island as a through route to Northern B.C. and Alaska."

Fishing Gear Theft Probed

NANAIMO—Police in Nanaimo are investigating theft of expensive fishing equipment from a boat docked at Fisherman's Wharf.

Some $150 worth of gear was taken from a boat belonging to Edward Callow, 26 Erwin Street, Nanaimo.

Manager Accuses Officials

CAMPBELL RIVER — In a formal letter to the provincial government the manager of a local development company has charged the chairman and three members of the village commission with "malfeasance in office."

The charge came from William Mullett, manager of Campbell River Development Corporation.

Named in Mr. Mullett's letter to the department of municipal affairs were village commission chairman R. D. Jamieson and Commissioners Mrs. Isobel Sandberg, D. Corker and J. Law.

The case involves terms of zoning regulations as laid down first for Tyee Plaza, a shopping centre; second for a building permit granted to James Standeven; third in a zoning bylaw which had been given three readings.

Mr. Mullett contends that Tyee Plaza was required to provide about three square feet of parking space for each square foot of store space. The bylaw, however, would require 250 square feet of parking for 500 square feet of store space.

PORT ALBERNI — Rites will be held Saturday at 1.30 p.m. in Stevens funeral chapel for Mrs. Gertrude Matilda Carlson, late of Beaver Creek Road, who died in West Coast General Hospital Wednesday at the age of 71 years.

Mrs. Carlson was born in Sweden and had lived here for 32 years. She leaves her husband, Arvid, at home; one son, Morris Anderson, Port Alberni; two daughters, Mrs. Kurt Larson, West Vancouver, and Mrs. Helmer Sederland, Alberni, and seven grandchildren.

She was a member of the local Scandinavian society.

Rev. Glen Stevenson will conduct the service and burial will be in Alberni Valley Memorial Gardens.

Fire Guts Home Owner Had Left

NANAIMO — A home on Diver Lake Road in the Wellington area near Nanaimo was destroyed by fire late yesterday.

Wellington Fire Chief John Gilmour said the fire was well under way by the time it was noticed, and efforts to save the house were unsuccessful. The building was a total loss.

Apparently the owner, R. Bodine, had moved out of the house recently. It was unoccupied at the time of the fire, and there was very little in the way of furniture in the building.

Cause of the blaze is not known. RCMP are investigating.

NANAIMO — Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts has found a Nanaimo driver guilty of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Alfred Charles Collier, defended by lawyer Sid Clark, said he did not see a 14-year-old boy riding his bicycle.

The boy, Drayne Classen, was knocked from his bike in front of city hall Nov. 28. He was only slightly injured.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts, in finding Collier guilty of the charge, made it clear he was being lenient with him. He imposed a $75 fine.

NANAIMO — New chairman of the Nanaimo school board following the inaugural meeting last night is Waldie Manion of South Wellington.

He replaces former chairman Marion Ricker, who retired. Elected vice-chairman of the board was Joseph Shook of East Wellington.

DUNCAN — Police said no one was injured when car driven by Mrs. Olive M. DeMille, Richards Trail, went out of control and smashed into a telephone pole on Herd Road Wednesday. Damage is estimated in excess of $300.

INDIAN SOIL WILL BE FREE

Nehru Party Pledges To Liberate Country

PATNA, India (UPI)—The president of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's Congress party pledged yesterday to drive the Chinese Communists from Indian soil and "liberate" all of Kashmir from Pakistan.

The threat of military action against China and Pakistan was made by Sanjiva Reddy shortly before an unruly crowd of thousands of Nehru's admirers broke through barriers and lines of police armed with bamboo poles for a closer look at their idol.

FLAG RAISING

Reddy spoke at the traditional flag raising ceremony before formal opening of the party's conference. He delivered the major political address although Nehru spoke in support of the party's election manifesto calling for national integration.

'PATIENCE TRIED'

Reddy said Communist China's new penetrations in the Ladakh area north of Kashmir has tried India's patience. The Chinese are mistaken if they believe India will allow this indefinitely, he said.

CAN'T ACCEPT IT

Referring to Pakistan, Reddy said India cannot accept the present ceasefire line in Kashmir as a permanent solution to the dispute with Pakistan which also claims Kashmir. He said the entire country supports the government action to "liberate" parts of Kashmir now under Pakistani control.

POLICY HARDENS

Speeches by the Congress president usually reflect official Indian government policy. Reddy's rejection of the ceasefire line indicated a hardening of government policy in the long smoldering dispute.

LIBERATION HOPE

"We hope that within a short time the government will take steps to liberate that part of Kashmir (occupied by Pakistan)," Reddy said. "It is, however, to be left to the government to choose the proper time for this purpose."

Bank Sued For Libel

LONDON (AP) — Liquor dealer James Black is suing his bank for libel because he claims it bounced a cheque of his when he had money in his account to meet it.

The Winnipeg-born liquor dealer came to London 25 years ago and now is in his 70s. He claims a cheque he wrote for £93 ($270) was wrongly dishonored by the Westminster Bank and that this action libelled him.

He is also suing the bank for breach of contract by the alleged refusal of the cheque.

The case, believed to be unique in British legal history, will be heard by a judge and jury in London after Easter.

Twelve Charged in Scandal

Meat 'Unfit for Humans' Eaten by Ontario Families

TORONTO (CP) — An estimated 375 to 500 tons of meat unfit for human consumption has been served in homes in southern Ontario since last August, RCMP said Thursday.

The estimate came as police arrested 12 persons in the climax to investigations which began in August. All were charged with offences under the Food and Drug Act.

STAMP OF APPROVAL

Police described the operation as that of a ring which sold meat from fallen or dead animals to packers and duped them into believing it was of good quality by marking the containers with the stamp of approval of the Brant County health department.

VETERINARIAN HELD

One of the 12 men arrested was Ormond C. Raymond, a veterinarian with the Brant County health department and a director of food control and sanitation with the county health unit.

Insp. Kenneth Fraser, head of the RCMP Criminal Investigation Branch here, said the meat was sold in good faith by the retail outlets because they had no way of knowing it was not of good quality.

THROUGH CHAIN STORES

He said much of the tainted meat found its way to the public tables through "some of the larger supermarkets and groceteria chain stores."

RCMP Supt. F. B. Woods-Johnson said Thursday night investigations indicate the large stores, which handle federally-inspected meat, did not receive any of the unfit supplies.

STATEMENT ISSUED

In Toronto, spokesmen for the larger supermarkets and groceteria chains issued immediate statements saying they bought all their meat from packing houses under federal government supervision.

BEGAN IN AUGUST

Investigations began in August when firms specializing in the byproducts of dead cattle told police they had difficulty buying carcasses.

Police said profits on the operation could run to about $60,000 a month. The most ever paid for a dead animal was $5, and in some cases, police said, farmers were glad to give the animal away to save disposal costs or trouble.

Some of the animals had been dead for days, lying bloated where they fell in the fields.

Jet Crashes In Okanagan

VANCOUVER (CP)—An F-89 Scorpion jet fighter with two men aboard crashed Thursday night in a remote and mountainous area in southeastern British Columbia.

The crash was confirmed by officials of the Air National Guard at Geiger Field in Spokane, Wash., where the aircraft was based.

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre here said the 25th Air Defence Command reported two F-89 aircraft were carrying out practice missions in the area when one of them reported seeing a mid-air explosion.

The aircraft crew said radio and radar contact with the other F-89 was lost after the explosion.

The RCAF said a Trans-Canada Airlines Vanguard jet passenger aircraft reported sighting a fire 60 miles east of Penticton.

The air-sea rescue officials said the Vanguard circled the fire for several minutes before leaving the area.

The RCAF sent a CF-100 jet to the crash area from Comox.

Thief Robs Art Dealer

BERGAMO, Italy (AP)—Four paintings valued at 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 Lire ($80,000 to $160,000) have been stolen from an art dealer's villa, police said yesterday.

Salvaged Ship's Fate Still in the Balance

By IAN STREET

All the efforts of two Victoria tugs, which pulled the Sa. Glafkos off the rocks at Ucluelet and safely delivered to Esquimalt, may not be enough to save the Greek freighter.

A jagged tear 84 feet long in the portside bottom plates of the vessel, disclosed in a preliminary damage survey, will be surveyed fully in drydock today.

The findings will decide whether the 7,000-ton ship, built in Canada in 1943 and originally named Algonquin Park, is to be repaired or patched up and sold for scrap.

PLATES PUNCTURED

Jack Daley, chief diver for Island Tug and Barge Ltd., made the first underwater survey shortly after the ITB tow arrived yesterday reported the main gash in plates was 17 feet long and wide enough to take his head and shoulders.

Punctured and buckled plates covered an area amidships 84 feet long and 20 feet wide, Mr. Daley reported.

TUGS PRAISED

Meanwhile, ITB officials here said the salvage operation carried out by the tugs Island Challenger and Sudbury rated highest on the long list of successful company operations.

Terror in City

Oran Battle Joined By Tribesmen

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—French Zouave troops fought a battle in the heart of Oran yesterday with an Algerian Moslem rebel commando troop which penetrated the centre of the city and sprayed a cafe with machine-gun fire.

Last night the death toll for the first four days of the new year had climbed to at least 72 with 150 persons wounded. Five persons were reported killed in the Oran fighting yesterday and four others elsewhere in Algeria.

French authorities had imposed a strict curfew in Oran, but when it was lifted yesterday morning Europeans opposed to independence for Algeria poured out of their houses and resumed their kill-and-run tactics against Algerian Moslems.

REBELS RETALIATE

In the afternoon the rebels retaliated by sending commandos into the Place Marshal Foch in the centre of Oran where they sprayed a cafe with machine-gun fire as hundreds of European youths demonstrated in the square. A soldier and a policeman fell dead.

FIRE RETURNED

The Zouaves, fierce tribesmen from the Djurdjura Mountains of Algeria, returned the fire with sub-machine-guns.

The Zouaves, who have been fighting for France in Algeria since 1831, were joined by police as the rebels raced into nearby buildings in the confusion that filled the square. They shot it out with the rebels for an hour.

Crew in Grave Danger On Drifting B.C. Tug

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—A 200-ton tugboat with 12 men aboard was drifting out of control late Thursday night in a roaring gale near the rocky west shore of Dundas Island, 30 miles northwest of here.

Towing company officials here said the men were in "extreme danger."

The tug, the Commodore, of Straits Towing Ltd., lost her 2,000-ton log barge tow in 100-mile-an-hour winds Thursday afternoon and then lost her steering as she searched for the tow.

The department of transport lighthouse tender Alexander MacKenzie was standing by but was unable to get a line on the stricken tug.

A sister tug, the Comet, was hauling a barge on the opposite side of Dundas Island and a tug from Prince Rupert was speeding to relieve the Comet of her tow so that the Comet could help the Commodore.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Balsam, from Ketchikan, Alaska, and the tug N. R. Land from Kitimat, 75 miles southwest of here, also were steaming to the aid of the rudderless tug.

UBC 'Angel' Gives Home To President

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Norman MacKenzie and all the retiring presidents of the University of British Columbia who come after him will have a $30,000 home for their own use.

It was learned Thursday that millionaire philanthropist Dr. Leon Koerner will foot the bill for the new home whose first resident will be Dr. MacKenzie who is retiring next summer.

Swiss to Buy U.K. Missiles

LONDON (CP) — Switzerland has agreed to buy $68,000,000-worth of anti-aircraft missiles from the British Aircraft Corporation, the corporation announced Thursday.

Car Ban Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver has been urged to reduce traffic speed limits, restrict parking and block off some streets in order to save lives, especially those of children.

The proposals are made in a report of a UBC research team after a year-long study of child-pedestrian accidents in the city.

Main proposals are to reduce speed limits to 20 from 30 miles an hour in residential areas, to ban traffic from these areas between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to restrict parking to one side of residential streets and to repeal the by-law which gives pedestrians the right of way at all intersections.

The city bylaw giving pedestrians the right-of-way at intersections, the report says, gives children a false sense of security.

Police Trap Bank Robbers

MONTREAL (CP) — Police cornered a gang of armed robbers Thursday shortly after a bank holdup in the north-eastern part of Montreal, killing one and capturing four others.

The robbers were surrounded by 6 policemen in a partly occupied apartment building about a mile from a Royal Bank of Canada branch where $20,000 was taken in a noon-hour holdup.
